Sourdoughs Take Entire Possession During Carnival

Spirit Of "Gay Nineties" Holds Sway As Vernon Makes Merry

ENTHUSIASM HAS NOT BEEN EQUALLED

Thousands Jam Arena To Enjoy Klondyke Atmosphere

The "Gay Nineties" have been revived. With a wave of enthusiasm that undoubtedly has never been equalled in this city's history, Vernon days and Klondyke nights have been observed, and this Kinsmen-sponsored celebration is indelibly written in the memories of its thousands of participants.

No artist's canvas is large enough to execute in detail all aspects of this second annual mid-summer celebration, and its features defy pictorialization on the printed page. With a background of but one year's experience behind those who planned and its features greatly expanded over the preceding year.

Race meets have been held many times in Vernon's past history; so have carnivals. But neither of these events has ever been so co-ordinated as that of Wednesday and Thursday, the last of the Klondyke celebration.

The weather conditions experienced were not usual for an Okanagan summer, but did not detract from the absence of a hot sun during the afternoon's racing rather added to the pleasure of those attending. The track was slow, heavy, but this only tended to upset the dog's calculations and to add an extra flavor of chance in the betting.

In the evenings the scene shifted to the Sports Arena. There the Rat Trap Saloon did a roaring trade, hairy-faced miners and prospectors were shot down, sound-effects flooded the air, and tenderloins—and nobody minded, for the spirit of the Klondyke was abroad. Huge sums of "money" passed freely for hard-earned coin of the realm. There were games of every kind—from mild hoop-la to deadly blackjack.

And throughout the evenings people roamed, tramped over every corner, every available foot of space in the arena, the only building in the valley that could have housed the vast throngs of people before you recognized a single one you knew, and for this there were reasons: the hirsute adornments sported by the majority of the men and the ladies of Klondyke clothes, and the indescribable, the indescribable, the indescribable, the numbers that congregated at the carnival from widely scattered points in the valley and main line. The spirit of the celebration was one of its most remarkable features. The "Whiskers Unlimited" seemed to act as the leveller. Husky lumberjacks exchanged tips on the races with elaborately silhouetted millionaires; Mrs. 1890 confided in Miss 1938, a gap of 40 years was bridged in the span of two days.

Wednesday afternoon saw the celebration slip into high gear—a pace maintained for the entire two days. The races, the pet parade, the Klondyke night were described in the last issue of The Vernon News. Thursday afternoon saw nearly 60 horses from all parts of the interior entered in the races, results of which are given in an adjoining column. From Kelowna came an excellent auto of early 1900 vintage, complete with driver in dust coat, handkerchief whiskers. At an intermission he made a complete circle of the track. During the afternoon George Miller's polished carriage made an entrance and held the attention of all eyes, with silk-hatted gentlemen and beautifully gowned ladies.

Next event of the celebration was the grand parade, for which many hundreds of people lined Bernard Avenue and adjacent streets, so that it was a unique event and may

GAME WARDEN IS WEARING A SMILE

The first chilly evenings have turned the thoughts of hunters to the duck shooting season. Now is the hatch? This is a query of one sportsman to another. No one being able to answer the question, Charlie Still, Game Warden, went out to take a look around.

The Communique is as good as a blank ground as any other, so he visited there on Monday and when he returned he was wearing a broad grin. The ducks can fly now, so he had no way of numbering the broods, but on nine of the small lakes and ponds on the Communique he counted 530 ducks. Fix smaller ponds brought the total to about 700.

About the pheasant hatch there has been uncertainty. Some large broods have been seen in the Okanagan Lake region. In other areas there are many small ones. On the whole, it does not appear as if the young birds are so numerous as they were at this time one year ago, but there are plenty for those who are proficient in shooting.

KIN PRESIDENT IS ENTHUSIASTIC BY GREAT RESPONSE

Final figures of the financial outcome of the racing carnival will not be divulged for a week or two, it is reported by President W. D. McTaggart, general chairman of the program sponsored last week by his organization.

Pressed for more exact details as to the results by The Vernon News, Mr. McTaggart made the prediction that at least $1,500 would accrue as a profit. Until all costs are finally worked out and tabulated, he explained, it is impossible to venture any reliable prophecy as to higher returns. The one fact he did emphasize, however, was that the profit is to be definitely earmarked for the Kinsmen summer camp at Okanagan Lake for underprivileged and underprivileged children.

It is the general opinion that this estimate of profit is conservative, and that when the final returns are tabulated, a profit of considerably higher proportions may be obtained. This remains to be seen, however, and the authentic dollars and cents answer will not be forthcoming till later, when an opportunity has been given to complete all figures on the big undertaking.

But there is no doubt that the effort was a financial success and that everyone who assisted can feel satisfied that such effort was not in vain.

"It was much more successful than we first hoped it would be," remarks Mr. McTaggart.

"One of the marked features of the celebration," the Kin president says further, "was the spirit of co-operation shown, not only by Vernon but by Okanagan and main line residents who attended."

LIBERAL CONV'TN OPENS SESSIONS IN ORCHARD CITY

Train With 250 Delegates Passed Through Here Early This Morning

Prominent Liberals and their families from all parts of the province took Kelowna by storm today, as the first sessions of the Liberal convention in that city rolled around. Dignitaries in the government, officials of Liberal associations in cities and towns throughout B.C., and many others are all present at the huge rally in the Orchard City.

The arrival of a special train this morning loaded to capacity with delegates from the Coast, marked the beginning of a very full day's program. The train which passed through Vernon at 6:45 this morning conveyed over 250 persons to Kelowna. The majority of these came from Vancouver, while many joined the train at various stops on the way. On Wednesday, a van-guard of approximately 15 persons arrived in the Orchard City on the day's train.

While the United Church Hall will be the scene of the business meetings of the convention, many other locations in the city will be the scenes of numerous activities arranged for the entertainment of the delegates. Among these diversions will be the City horse races which are to be sponsored by the Aquatic Association on Friday, various teas, luncheons, and garden parties for the ladies, and a luncheon for all the delegates on Friday noon.

On Thursday evening, Mr. Pattullo will address a meeting in the city park. Other speakers will be Dr. W. J. Knox, Kelowna, president of the B.C. Liberal association, and Capt. O. R. Bull, M.L.A., for South Okanagan.

Besides the Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture and member for the North Okanagan, who is attending with members of his family, representatives from this district will be P. B. Cossitt, C. W. Morrow, F. Valair, H. B. Monk, J. S. Monk, S. Martin, A. E. Tombs, Mrs. Harry Miller, Mrs. Bertha Wintermute, Mrs. Robinson, A. Besette, of Lumby, M. Callens, of Mara, and T. Sharpe, of Enderby.

TO CONSTRUCT BUILDING
KAMLOOPS, B.C., Aug. 24.—Construction of a $50,000 office building for the Provincial government will be undertaken here within the next few weeks. The structure will be used to consolidate the various government branches housed in rented offices.

START MAC PICKING
First pickings of McIntosh apples in southern orchards have commenced for export shipments. The Communique has counted 530 ducks. Fix smaller ponds brought the total to about 700.

DUMP DUTY ON PRUNES
Dump duty on prunes was set at one cent a pound effective August 10, with the usual exemptions, the tariff committee of the B.O.P.C.A. was informed last week. Orders for prunes from country points have been received and it is anticipated that the prune deal will be going full blast by the week end.

Recalling "Vernon Days" To You

Here's the exciting first turn in the biggest race of all, the Vernon Derby. At the rail is Keen Prince, who eventually won. Then reading from the right are Perigrinus and Duke Paul, who finished third and second. King Jubilee can be seen coming hard on the outside, while Tableau is at the rail behind Keen Prince.

Here are 36 of them, on parade. Dressed in the regalia of the Klondyke, sporting whiskers. These are some of the men who in this way did a lot to advertise the big carnival project that was so successful. But it is only a part. There were many more. The picture was taken early in the morning in Polson Park but the other sourdoughs were sleeping.

'Keen Prince' Captures Vernon Derby In Race Meet's Climax: Every Event Hotly Contested

Kentucky-Bred Animal, Owned By Kelowna Man, In Spotlight Here

Jack Ward's "Keen Prince", a Kentucky-bred horse that is reported to have been bought by its present owner for a sum as low as $50, emerged the chief money winner as the Vernon Day racing carnival drew to a close at dusk on Thursday afternoon of last week.

The big bay Kelowna-owned animal, ruled off leading tracks because of his consistently fast starts, was entered in three races during the two days and trotted off the course a three-time winner.

His biggest victory was in the Vernon derby, feature event of Thursday. Jumping into an early lead after Starter Laurie Carswell had sent the field of seven away, "Keen Prince" had a margin of yards ahead of George Anderson's recent import, "Duke Paul". This he maintained, finishing strongly over the heavy track. The Anderson entry was second and T. V. Hadjipik's "Perigrinus" showed.

Ward's animal was a prime favorite in the mutuels and as a result more than 70 straight bets were slapped on his nose. The odds suffered accordingly and a place ticket on "Keen Prince" paid more than did a straight bet.

Ward's two other victories were on Wednesday, when he captured the Hotel derby and the six-furlong event.

Opening race of the final day was the half-blood, six furlongs. Lionel Valair's "King Jubilee" was first, ahead of Art Beasant's "Chicko Lin-doo". "King Jubilee" paid best odds of the day, a $1 straight ticket to the victor, and the fortunate few who had faith in the animal.

George Anderson's "Duke Paul" which was later to run second in the Vernon derby, took first place in the one mile open. Hadjipik's "Perigrinus" was second and O. E. Isner's "Great Guy" third.

One of the best races of the day from the spectators' viewpoint was the third, for two-year-olds, five-eighths mile. Only four were brought to the post, and Andy Smith's "Britannia" breezed in the winner.

OGOPOGO FAVORING TEA PARTIES

To give the lie to the often repeated notion that he is seen only by the members of rather convivial men's fishing parties, and that sort of thing, Ogoopogo in his most recent appearance has favored a ladies' tea party.

Last Thursday six ladies were at the home of Walter Hamilton's down at the beach front in Kelowna.

Right out in the water in front of them, going 45 miles an hour, they saw the famous Okanagan Lake monster.

One of them in particular, Miss M. Blackie, says she is now prepared to give a quite accurate description.

"NEVER HAD A BETTER TIME" -- DECISION OF NEWSPAPERS' LEADER

Mayor Bowman Pays High Tribute To Work In Organizing Project

On Wednesday and Thursday, Vernon observed one of its most successful celebrations in many years, and the Kinsmen are most deserving of the applause tendered them from all sides, states Mayor Harry Bowman in an interview with The Vernon News.

"Such a complete and unprejudiced success was due entirely to the unstinted hard work of an organization of which every member carried his share of the burden, thus showing conclusively the results of thorough co-operation. I am sure every Kinsman feels that these results were more than worth the effort. And in speaking of the work done by the Kinsmen, we must not forget their wives, and also the other social service clubs who assisted them so actively to 'put over' Vernon Day."

Apart from sheer energetic co-operation, there were other factors leading to the most satisfactory conclusion of the carnival, minor perhaps, but still very effective. To begin with, the beard-growing idea was excellent. Every citizen became increasingly Klondyke conscious as the beards grew thicker and bushier, and by the time the actual day arrived, each was keen to take part in the festivities. The contest was a splendid publicity medium, particularly as various bearded gentlemen became featured attractions of the Kelowna and Landing regatta, and their fame penetrated even to the Coast, down into the States, and as far as the British Isles.

The evening parades aroused a great deal of interest, and drew the

TOMATO SUPPLIES TO CANNERY REACH PEAK

Peak volume has been reached this week in the shipments of tomatoes to valley canning plants, Bulmans Ltd., in this city is employing approximately 150 men and women and is working ten hours daily.

T. R. Bulman, president of Bulmans Ltd., states that last year at this period the plant was not only working on tomatoes but also on dried apples and as a result some 250 were engaged.

This season so far has not seen enough apples for dehydrating so there will be no clash in the work.

Okanagan Wheat History

FOR THE FIRST TIME GROWERS GET THE HIGHEST POSSIBLE GRADE ON ENTIRE CROP

"No Better On The Prairies"

In all probability, for the first time in the history of wheat growing in the Okanagan on a commercial basis, growers have succeeded in reaching the highest possible grade for their entire crop.

George Heggie, manager of the L. & A. ranch, which last week completed its harvesting, has announced that on 10,000 bushels of Marquis shipped recently to the government elevators at Vancouver, it was possible to secure on all six large cars a grade of No. 1 Hard, with no dockage for weed seeds or other foreign matter.

The same statement may be made by F. E. R. Wolston, manager of the Coldstream Ranch, though his shipment this year has been confined to one 50-ton car. However, he was delighted with the result of the grading. "I thought there was none of this No. 1 Hard left in Canada," he laughingly told The Vernon News this week. "No. 1 Northern is the standard and we're always pleased to get it but now we're tickled to death to get the rare grading at the very peak."

"Last year we shipped 15,000 bushels," Mr. Heggie explained to The Vernon News, "and the grade was No. 1 Northern, with which we were pleased. But this year we have managed to hit the very top notch, and on all we shipped."

Proudly he displayed six grade certificates, one for each car, forwarded from the Board of Grade Commissioners, and also the weight certificates sent from the elevators.

"Now who says we can't grow as good wheat here in the Okanagan as they can on the prairies?" he demanded, when discussing the matter with The Vernon News.

An astute listener cheering news as to quality, Mr. Heggie continued with the remark that owing to the exceptionally dry season yields of hay and grain were

Fruit Growers' Association Assumes Responsibility For Demanding An Investigation

Attorney-General Interviewed By Committee—Promises Co-operation

KELOWNA, B.C., Aug. 25.—Latest development in the growers' campaign directed towards the end of securing an investigation into an alleged crime in fruit shipping and marketing was enacted at Kelowna, Wednesday, when a special committee appointed by the B.C.F.G.A., Messrs. Loyd, Haskins, and Isaacs, interviewed the Hon. Gordon Wismer, K.C., Attorney-General of B.C.

After carefully considering the points brought out in the interview, the Hon. Mr. Wismer said that if the B.C.F.G.A. will forward him a request for an investigation, together with copies of evidence on which the Isaacs charges are based, the question will be immediately probed. The government will consider whether it will conduct the investigation, or press for Dominion action in that regard.

If it does its own investigation, it could possibly involve a royal or special committee rather than under the Sales on Consignment Act, he said.

The B.C.F.G.A. decided to communicate immediately with the Attorney-General officially, to submit for an immediate investigation. The Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, was in attendance at the interview with the Attorney-General.

Satisfaction with the course of the interview was expressed by Mr. Isaacs on behalf of the committee, and the B.C.F.G.A. will be interviewed by the same committee on Wednesday evening. "He tendered us very satisfactory co-operation," he said.

Meanwhile dispatches from Ottawa have indicated that authorities there also have expressed their willingness to launch an investigation, under the Combines Investigation Act, if a suitable application on substantial grounds goes forward.

The Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, will be interviewed by the same committee at Summerland today, Thursday.

STRENGTHENING OF CARTEL DISCUSSED BY THE ASSOCIATED

New System For Control By Means Of Orders, Rather Than Invoices

A new plan by which it is proposed to strengthen the functioning of the cartel system as employed by the B.C. Fruit Board was put forward at an executive meeting of the Associated Growers, held here Tuesday morning.

Discussion of this became the feature of the gathering, which was also attended by G. A. Barratt and O. W. Henning, as representatives of the Board.

The plan, it was later divulged to the press, would involve closer supervision of all orders and establishment of an equalization fund.

Under the present arrangement the shippers invoice their shipments till they reach the cartel limit. Frequently, in this way they go over the mark. The new plan would involve more regulation of the orders than of the invoices and it is submitted, in that way keep the cartel over-selling within reasonable bounds.

No decision was arrived at but the members of the Board agreed to take it up with other shippers and to explore the point further.

Other matters under review were routine affairs with regard to Associated policy, reported the president and general manager, E. J. Chambers.

Members of the executive in attendance were Capt. H. A. Porteous, Oliver, W. H. Morris, Pentleton, L. E. Marshall, Kelowna; and F. V. LeGuen, Vernon.

Valley Speaker

HON. J. G. GARDINER

After arriving on the Kettle Valley railway route from the Coast, the Dominion Minister of Agriculture will be the speaker at the Summerland Experimental Station picnic today. During his visit in the valley he will also study the fruit combine charges.

WEALTHY CARTEL NOW OPERATING

First Release On Wednesday—Price Of 65 Cents Is Issued

The cartel on Wealthy apples started on Wednesday, with an original release of 25 percent.

Prices have been set at 65 cents f & f and 35 cents wrapped, but on this variety all but a very few go at the lower rate.

Last week there was some selective picking of what might be called a fancy classification, which sold for 85 cents, but the 65 cent quotation for the general run now just starting was decided on Tuesday night.

Shippers are expecting a good response for the price is not a prohibitive one and, with the harvesting now on the prairies, there should be a steady demand.

Last week end was marked by good business. What is generally called the "preserving deal" is now to the fore, with Elberta peaches and prunes as the chief favorites. Shippers are being pressed for other mixtures besides, involving the early pears and apples and such early vegetables as tomatoes and cucumbers.

MAY ESTABLISH NEW ARMSTRONG INDUSTRY

Plans For Manufacturing Acetylene Gas Now Under Review

Work Has Begun On Paving Road

Work has begun on the reconstruction and paving of seven miles of the Vernon-Kelowna road immediately south of this city. The original intention of the Carter Halls Aldinger Co., the company in charge of the project, was to pave in all seven miles of the road and to skip several parts of it where corners were bad or where the road base was not ready for the hard surface. The plans as they stand at present, however, call for seven miles of pavement with no breaks in it at all, or practically none. Therefore the more dangerous corners on the highway and those parts of the road that are narrow, especially those now guarded with rails, will be widened.

This week the graders went on the job and are preparing the way for the construction crews, which are at present setting up the rock crushing machinery. The grading will probably continue for a week and by that time the main body of men will be ready to start on the actual reconstruction. The entire project will be completed in approximately a month or five weeks.

Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, inspected the road during the course of his past few days, and expressed his gratification that the work is now to proceed over an almost unbroken unit.

Hon. K. C. MacDonald In Conference With Association

The British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association takes over responsibility for pressing the Provincial and Dominion authorities to investigate fully the Isaacs charges that Western Grocers Limited, Dominion Fruits Limited, Sales Service Limited, Lander Company Limited, and other kindred organizations and individuals, constitute a jobber-ship combine contrary to the provisions of the Sales on Consignment Act and the Dominion enactment, the Combines Investigation Act.

Presumably the association will also press for the appointment by the Dominion Government of Lewis Duncan, K.C., to conduct the investigation because Mr. Duncan, K.C., having had experience in investigating the Nash combine, will quickly know where to look for the evidence. He has also, according to press dispatches, announced his availability to act.

This was the decision at the meeting held at the B.C.F.G.A. offices in Kelowna on Tuesday afternoon. It was reached after lengthy consultation with the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. K. C. MacDonald, and a conference with D. Godfrey Isaacs. Mr. Isaacs produced the file of company reports which first gave an inkling of a possible hook-up, the affidavit of Harry Reader concerning stock holdings, and promised to produce other substantiation.

To a committee consisting of the President of the B.C.F.G.A., A. K. Loyd; a member of the B.C. Fruit Board, (probably Chairman W. E. Haskins); and D. Godfrey Isaacs; was entrusted the task of presenting the evidence to Hon. Gordon Wismer, Attorney-General for British Columbia, in Kelowna on Wednesday and to the Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion, now in the Okanagan, on a suitable occasion.

MINISTER GIVES HIS VIEWS

When the Hon. Dr. MacDonald met the executive he outlined the situation as it existed when the charges were made known to him in Victoria on Thursday last. The Premier and the Attorney-General were then absent and he had given the newspapers the assurance that the government was not interested in Isaacs, Norris, or Gardiner, or what they might have to say, but he is deeply interested in anything the official body representing the growers has to bring forward.

KAMLOOPS PROTESTS VERNON BOX-LA WIN

Locals' 19-12 Victory Last Week Disputed By Main Line Executive

League Standing

	W	L	Pts.
Kamloops	9	8	18
Salmon Arm	9	8	18
Vernon	8	10	16

On Wednesday noon officials of the Vernon Box-La Association received a protest from the Kamloops Lacrosse Club regarding the Interior League fixture at Kamloops, Friday, August 19th, which the local squad won 19-12.

The protest will probably be considered after the regular league schedule is completed. Basis for the protest is on four separate points, including a referee's decisions and a mix-up in penalties.

Salmon Arm's 19-18 overtime win from Vernon Tuesday placed the main line team in a tie with Kamloops for top spot. Kamloops travel to Salmon Arm Friday evening, and the homesters are not favorites to annex the valuable two points from a win. This will give them first place with 20 points.

The Vernon team's next game is at Kamloops Tuesday. Should they win their chances of making a playoff berth are rated fair. A loss would be an almost killing blow.

Salmon Arm is scheduled to play in the Sports Arena here on Labor Day, but the fixture may be postponed and if so will probably be held Thursday, September 1.

Details of the Vernon-Salmon Arm and Vernon-Kamloops contests appear on page 2 of this issue.

RATTLESNAKE IN FISHING CREEL

A snake in the grass is not at all uncommon, according to general opinion, but a snake in a fisherman's creel, and in that creel with the express purpose of stealing the fisherman's catch, is not only uncommon but also leads one to harbor a lower opinion of a snake than possibly one already holds.

KAMLOOPS WINS FIRST PLAYOFF AT REVELSTOKE

Hub City Squad Takes Long End Of Close 3-2 Decision

REVELSTOKE, B.C., Aug. 23.—Two errors right off the bat and each good for a run, gave the Kamloops baseball squad a lead in the playoff contest at Recreation Park, Sunday, which the local aggregation could not sneak up on. The result was a win for Kamloops, the score standing at 3-2 at the end of the ninth inning.

Revelstoke tried valiantly to squash the jinx which has held them in subjugation every time they have met Kamloops this season and at times the Kamloops players had a tough defense on their hands.

The second Kamloops man to face Pitcher Lonz was safe when Ditomassi allowed a easy grounder to travel between his legs. Stealing second the runner scored when Berusch singled to right field. It looked as if he had the Kamloops wide to the first sack. Sparks tripled and scored Berusch.

The Revelstoke fans clamored for Lonz's replacement and whether this sudden desertion of local loyalty spurred him to new effort or not the fact remains that after his initial rally he had the Kamloops outfit eating out of his hand. In the next inning MacKinnon got a three bagger on a hit which Maunders misjudged and scored on Wyss's bunt. That completed Kamloops' scoring for the game.

But if Lonz was good, so was MacKinnon the visitor's hurler, who in addition to his own effectiveness had an airtight infield behind him. He retired the locals in the ninth after walking the first man and the grandstand went wild for a rally, by striking out Maunders, who walked in a double play when Henderson flied out to him and D'Arcangelo had raced for second on what looked like a ground ball. Ditomassi got a home run in the seventh but once again the Kamloops luck was running true to form. The bases were empty and the next three men went out one, two, three.

Lonz whiffed four batters and five fell before MacKinnon, who walked two men to Lonz's one. The Kamloops twirler allowed only three hits while Kamloops nicked Lonz for five.

There were several heated arguments during the afternoon which kept Manager Roberts, of the visiting aggregation, constantly emerging from his dug-out. The visitors found considerable disagreement with the decisions of Cecil Kimble, umpire, who had been playing on the bases, and Berusch behind the bat for Kamloops, disputed the decisions of Sabourin with such monotonous regularity that the fans gave Berusch all the booing and jeering they could muster.

As the result, this initial win the Kamloops team is a heavy favorite to win next Sunday's game was the performance given by Manager Harry Pulley, who was on the receiving end for the Revelstoke team and who turned in as fine a game as any he has ever played in the old semi-professional interior league 25 years ago. Pulley has just passed his 51st birthday.

Box-La Views Salmon Arm Takes Box Lacrosse Contest From Vernon Squad

Locals Defeated 19-18 In Hectic Contest At Main Line Centre

Vernon Senior box lacrosse team's drive for first place in the Interior League standings hit a well organized, stubborn snag Tuesday evening, when Salmon Arm's fighting squad emerged with a win by one goal after 20 minutes of overtime in as thrilling a game as ever played in the valley circuit. Final score was 19-18.

The small Salmon Arm rink was lined with spectators, scores of them from this city. The hectic finish left the crowd unnerved, restless after watching 80 minutes of box-la that saw the tide of victory sweep from first one team to the other. It was the toughest, kind of a game to lose, and one of the most thrilling to win. Quite possibly it may never again be duplicated as an exhibition of sheer animal-rousing play.

With the greatest of star Louis Norris and newcomers Sid Glover and Dan Hopkins leading the way, Vernon was ahead 9-6 at the half and tied 12-12 at three-quarters. Bob Doble, had added two and Walter Willis, Ken Law, and Melville McMechan one each.

SINCLAIR STARS

Knowing every inch of the surface intimately, Salmon Arm worked their short passing game for constant assaults on the locals' citadel. In the fourth quarter, Sinclair, one of their brightest and most effective players, scored to give Salmon Arm a 13-12 advantage.

At this juncture Coach Ken MacDonal barged his way into the game and back-handed one past Harvey, Not to be outdone, the main liners' Turner scored with less than two minutes left to full time.

The count then showed Salmon Arm one up at 14-13, and an ordinary game would certainly have been won. But this definitely was an extraordinary contest, and one of its real thrills came when Glover accepted a pass from teammate Hopkins and had his hands on the ball but the ball went into the net with two seconds to spare. Full time thus found the game deadlocked at 14-14.

The end of the first ten minutes' overtime came with both teams in a dead-end, but the game was resumed after a short interval for the second extra session.

For every person clinging to the rafters the last ten minutes was an unforgettable drama played for keeps not simulated. It had pathos, tragedy for the Vernons, and a great and well merited win for the stirring main line team and supporters.

VERNON AHEAD

From the first faceoff Vernon dominated the scene. Sid Glover, high-strung, whose great goal earlier had sent the game into overtime, scored with only seconds gone. The building itself seemed to echo the Salmon Arm spectators' groan. Then Louis Norris, who had broken waves of rallies, put Vernon two up. The climax seemed to come when Glover added another, sending the local squad ahead 18-15.

But there was still a greater climax in store. "Babe" Kennedy grabbed the ball with less than five minutes to go, beat Bob Derry in a Vernons' snare and beautifully executed effort. This sparked Salmon Arm, and caught Vernon resting on its lead. Morton was next to score, and then the youthful Cousins gained the tying and winning goals.

INDIAN ATHLETE DIES AFTER TRAIN ACCIDENT

SALMON ARM, B.C., Aug. 22.—Walter "Smoky" Anthony, a resident of the Salmon Arm Indian reserve, died on Friday, August 19, in the local hospital from injuries received when he was alighting from a moving freight train at Chase, on Wednesday evening.

He was brought in to Salmon Arm on the passenger train Wednesday night and it was necessary to amputate a leg the next morning, but the shock was too great and he succumbed at 8:30 a.m. Friday.

"Smoky" was well known in sport circles in this district, having played with the Salmon Arm team in 1932 and 1933. Since then he has been a "star" on both the Indian baseball and hockey teams. He leaves a wife and two small children besides his mother and father.

HALF MILLION FRY ARE "PLANTED" IN REVELSTOKE LAKES

Sportsmen's Organization Membership Expected To Reach 100 Mark

REVELSTOKE, B.C., Aug. 23.—O. H. Robinson, fish officer from Nelson, spent several days in the district this week on his first visit to this territory. Mr. Robinson inspected the several lakes the Revelstoke Rod and Gun Club has selected for stocking with Kamloops trout and found these highly satisfactory in every way.

An ambitious membership drive has boosted the club membership to 65 and by the end of the drive there is every reason to expect that the quota of 100 members will have been attained.

About 30,000 fingerlings will be planted in the three lakes around the Revelstoke district and the remaining fingerlings will be placed in other lakes west of Revelstoke and add to the pleasure of the incoming tourist who has time to stop by a way side and cast a line. In the last six years the club has planted 540,000 fingerlings in Summit, Victoria, Three Valley and Griffin Lakes, all along the Revelstoke-Okanagan Highway. In the past weeks the club's efforts have been well rewarded in view of the fact that some nice Kamloops trout have been pulled out of these waters.

In order that members of the club and others interested may have an opportunity to see the fish develop, Five Mile Lake and Williams Lake, both on the Revelstoke-Arrowhead Highway, will be screened. The fingerling, now in the club's hatchery at Taft, have grown much larger than in any other year and the prospects for much improved fishing in the Revelstoke district are very bright, according to R. M. Smythe, the club's energetic secretary.

ARMSTRONG'S BOX-LA SQUAD TAKES LEAD IN JUNIOR PLAYOFF GAME

ARMSTRONG, B.C., Aug. 23.—Armstrong's Junior Lacrosse squad made a most auspicious start in their play-off games with Kamloops on Wednesday, August 17, when they completely outplayed the main line team in the first game of the series, defeating them by a score of 13-4.

The second game will be played in Kamloops Thursday, and if a third game is necessary it will be played at Armstrong.

In the opening period the Armstrong boys took command and soon opened the scoring by P. Fisher, which was quickly followed by a second by the same player. Parks made it three for Armstrong followed by a score by Percen for Kamloops. Murray put in a fourth for the locals and then before Kamloops could get a second goal, Armstrong scored a goal and end rush scored to make the score 5-1 for Armstrong.

In the second period the visitors had a little more of the play but the locals added to their lead, scoring three goals. Henderson, P. Fisher and Murray held the scores. Kamloops replied with two goals by Persons to make the score 8-3 for Armstrong.

The third period started with a run of Armstrong players in the penalty box, no less than three being off at the same time before Kamloops were unable to profit by their advantage and Armstrong were first in scoring when P. Fisher bulged the net. Kamloops applied the pressure for a time and Wasylikow scored what proved the last goal of the game. The period ended with the score 9-4 in favor of the locals.

In the fourth period the local boys took complete control and quickly increased their lead when Booth scored. W. Fisher finished a nice passing run with his brother when he found the net. Duncley scored Armstrong's twelfth goal and the last score of the evening came when Murray slipped a fast one past Duris.

THE TEAMS

Kamloops: Duris, Wasylikow, A. Burtinick, Brown, Persons, Corbin, Percen, McShane, Nelson, McElroy, J. Burtinick, Vanleer, Dilworth.

Locals Win From Kamloops

Vernon Senior box-la squad's invasion of Kamloops last Friday night served a dual purpose. The locals' large 12 victory gave them a healthy opportunity of gaining an Interior League playoff berth and also marked the first occasion this season, and it is believed since box-la was first started in the interior, that Kamloops was beaten on its home floor.

After the long rough trip and with the team at full strength for the first time this season, Vernon turned in a dazzling display that for three periods had the local aggregation on its back. The fourth period saw Kamloops attempt a "garrison" finish that did lead to several quick goals. Their stand was not powerful enough, though, and Bob Turnbull, Sid Glover, and Dan Hopkins contributed two counters apiece in the final 15 minutes to increase the Vernon lead.

Tension between the two squads was high and the partisan attitude of the 600 odd supporters did not help to cool the atmosphere.

The climax came when a Kamloops fan, so angry, he completely lost control of himself, threw a pop bottle on the floor. It smashed into a hundred pieces but did no damage to the players.

Several members of the Kamloops squad talked threateningly to Referee Stuart "Dolly" Gray just after the game ended.

At times the noise in the arena was deafening. The crowd sometimes pounded the board seats with their feet so hard that the referees' whistles could hardly be heard.

Kamloops opened the scoring seconds after the first bell, but Ed Turnbull evaded on a nice solo effort and from that point on the main liners never led—and this on their home floor. Through some smart work by the visiting attackers, six goals were run up in the first period compared with two for Kamloops.

The individual hero of the first half was soft-mannered Bob Derry, one of Lumb's contributors to box-la ranks. He has proved to be easily the most potent question between the players that Vernon has scored this year, and during the first half of the game especially kicked bulls out from all angles.

Despite the drawbacks of a smaller floor and poor lighting—to which Kamloops was more accustomed—the locals started out strongly and at the half were leading 10-4; at three-quarters 12-6.

Slim black-haired McDougal, Russ MacEwan, and Will Kipp were Kamloops' best players in the fourth quarter—15 minutes of rough play that highlighted the game. Between them they contributed five goals. Murray Querns, usually one of the main line's better players, let his nerves get the best of him and he underperformed his team. Kipp drew a five-minute penalty towards the end, weakening his team by his absence at a "crucial" point.

FROM THE SIDELINES.—More than a score of supporters from Vernon were present for the game. One of the most colorful personalities was Mrs. Bertha Wintermutter, who, though displaying lively feeling and sympathy for Vernon, had a smile for the other side, too. Sources close to the Kamloops club management and the players themselves make no attempt to hide the fact that they would rather see Salmon Arm than Vernon in the playoffs. Their reasoning goes something like this: Vernon, they rightly figure, now has the strongest team in the league. If they (Kamloops) can manage to drop enough goals to Salmon Arm yet keep in the lead,

"Joe", as he is familiarly known to everyone, is a French-Canadian by birth and came west over 50 years ago with the C.P.R. construction gang, as far as Kamloops. When he left that place he finally settled in this district on a homestead three miles from what is now a village, but it was then a forest with cattle trails for roads.

He is in excellent health and attributes this to one of his hobbies, that of hiking. Each spring he can be seen trekking into the hills on a prospecting jaunt. He stays away for several days but is always back in time to look after his garden, which is his other hobby.

Canadian Girls Sprout Wings

One of the newest professions for young women is that of air hostessing. It is a job calling for more than the average in charm, brains and poise. Air stewardesses are graduate nurses and must go through a stiff six weeks' training course in the only stewardess school in the world at Chicago. Several Canadian girls are in the corps of young air hostesses. Here are two of American Airlines' loveliest. Left, Margaret Radcliffe, a graduate of Royal Victoria hospital, Montreal, who has been flying on the Newark, Buffalo, Boston and Montreal flights for little more than a year. Right, Beatrice Drader, who left her Verona, Ont., home to be a stewardess on the Chicago-Newark run. Both girls are 27 years of age.

"Real People's Party" Is Objective Of C.C.F., States Speakers Here

Mrs. Dorothy Steeves and Arnold Webster Outline "Lasting Reconstruction"

Mrs. Dorothy Steeves, M. L. A., North Vancouver, and Arnold Webster, well known Vancouver spokesman for the C.C.F. party, addressed a public meeting in the Scout Hall here Monday evening, declaring that "policies of inaction" on the part of governments are more than ever before pointing to support of their organization, the C.C.F., as the means for "lasting reconstruction."

Mr. Webster, who was first called upon by Chairman Robert Wood, declared that it was futile to pillory those who at present hold office in government. They are not truly responsible. "We are blaming," he said, "the political system for faults that really lie in the economic system."

Quoting Margaret Bondfield, outstanding Englishwoman labor leader who recently visited Vancouver, the speaker laid emphasis on her remark: "People are more important than the things they make."

"We in the C.C.F. are not super-people, I'm afraid," he concluded. "We've made plenty of mistakes and we'll make many more. But we aim to do away with that measure of disproportionate power that leads to social injustice. It is a worthy cause. It isn't easy but we urge you to assist so as to make this one of the great movements in Canadian history."

Mrs. Steeves opened her remarks with the suggestion that Robert Koch did not find the diphtheria anti-toxin by "weeping, waiting, and praying." Rather, he did something. The C.C.F. means to do something in the field of Canadian politics, using scientific methods rather than outworn speeches. She characterized "Liberalism in Canada today" as "the most Tory party in the history of the country."

As against this, she suggested, Canadians should form a "real people's party."

Marking legislation, she said, should be looked upon with favor. "But what of the controlled price if you cannot sell the fruit at the price set?"

The C.C.F. aims at realignment of the social field in such a manner that wealth will be more widespread. This then would make it possible for farm goods to be purchased on a broader scale.

A Safe Rule For Pedestrians

Editor, The Vernon News, Sir: Going to and from the beach at Kalamalka one is struck with the number of potential car accidents caused daily by the large number of children and young people who are riding bicycles. The road is not only wide for ordinary traffic and the several curves offer extraordinary opportunity for mishap. That none have occurred this summer is more by the grace of God than by precautions taken by the children.

It is a safe rule to walk on the left side of the road. Don't keep "to the right" as you would on the sidewalk, but walk facing the traffic so you can see it approaching, then step off to the left. In some States this is compulsory. Try it and save yourself from causing a traffic accident. Remember you have a responsibility to guard yourself and others.

BUTTER MARKET OUTLOOK GLOOMY

Surplus Of Ten Million Pounds In Canada—None Exported

With Vice-President C. J. Patten in the chair a meeting of the board of the Okanagan Valley Co-operative Creamery Association was held in Vernon on Wednesday, August 17. The main business of the board was a consideration of the market situation with regard to creamery butter. Despite adverse weather conditions the creameries operated by the association at Enderby and Vernon were showing satisfactory results in the way of butter make.

The outlook, however, at present is gloomy. There is a surplus of ten million pounds of butter on hand in Canada. No butter has been exported. The London market in England is bogged down with butter from New Zealand, Australia, and Baltic countries. It is feared heavy additional shipments from Canada dumped on the London produce market might tip it. A general glut of world produce prices would adversely affect producers temporarily until consumers had eaten up the surplus stocks which they would probably do at lower prices. The association is holding substantial stocks of butter, but as much as a year ago due to sales early in the summer.

Director McCallum moved and Director Halksworth supported a vigorous protest to the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto demanding that the association's creamery butter be admitted. A telegram was immediately dispatched to the manager of the Royal Winter Fair and another was sent to the general manager of the express company asking an explanation of the delay in delivery of butter which is the pretext used by the exhibition authorities to disqualify the Okanagan butter entries.

It is expected as a result of these protests and the consideration of the matter by the highest authorities that the entries will be accepted. All conditions and rules of the competition were fulfilled by the creameries. Previous entries of Okanagan creamery butter have given an excellent account of themselves in the big Toronto exhibition.

The feeding of B. C. workmen employed on the Big Bend road Alberta butter was roundly condemned by all members of the board of the creamery.

"We are the ones who pay the taxes to buy this butter. Alberta farmers are now getting 17 cents a pound for the cream. Someone is making a fat profit out of this at the expense of the producers," declared Sam Halksworth.

A motion made by J. R. Gillians, of Lumby, and backed by J. McColl, of Armstrong, strongly protested against the supply of B. C. workmen on a government project with butter produced in another province and made from low priced butterfat. The secretary was instructed to take the matter up with the local representative.

Hon. K. C. MacDonald was in Vernon on Monday, August 22. He said he had written the federal member for the Revelstoke district, T. P. O'Neill, of Kamloops, pointing out the unfairness. Dr. MacDonald explained that the Big Bend project was under the federal government and was not in any way controlled by the provincial department of Public Works in Victoria.

Director J. R. Freeze brought up the question of now trying to obtain some help for the creameries in the Interior of B. C. through the provincial Natural Products Marketing Act. Mr. Freeze thought something could be done to win protection from dumping of Alberta butter here. He pointed out that B. C. produces only about one-third of the butter needed here and quality of product better. A board set up under the Marketing Act might put a check rein on prairie creameries flooding B. C. markets with butter from 17 cent cream.

"Do you think they would let us ship butter into Alberta and do that to them?" asked J. McColl. At the same time Mr. McColl stated he was not in favor of the marketing act as far as potatoes were concerned. He did not see where it had done much good.

Chairman Patten appointed Messrs. Freeze and McColl a committee to study this question and bring in a report to the next meeting of the board. At the same time he instructed the secretary to write Victoria and obtain seven copies of the act in order that every member of the board might have one.

A letter of sympathy was sent to President Coltart who has been confined to his bed for some months. He is reported to be making quite good progress now and it is expected he will be in the chair at the next meeting.

As I See It

CANADIANS SHOULD FOLLOW COURSE ADOPTED BY THE BALTIC COUNTRIES.

By Elmore Philpott

When I came to live in British Columbia, about a year ago, many things surprised and pleased me. One of these was the remarkable system of mail order education. In this province it is possible for any normal boy or girl to take the full public and high school course completely by mail. No matter in what isolated part of the province the pupil lives, if the mail comes the lessons come also. And they are, of course, adopted to the individual needs of the particular scholar.

It is obvious that boys or girls educated in such a way miss much that the community contact which an ordinary school group gives. But the mail order system of education was designed to serve children of isolated settlers who could not possibly attend the standard school. Also, the correspondence pupil gains something which the spoon-fed groups will never get in the same degree—practice in self-help and reliance.

This week in Victoria there is an international conference on correspondence education, with participants from as far away as New Zealand. It seems fitting that this should take place here where the idea was given practical form, and where B. C. led the world.

OUR CRYING NEED
A few years ago I was privileged to spend some time with Peter Maaniche, the principal of the International Folk High School, at Elsinore, Denmark. He had been brought to Canada by groups anxious to spread the idea of community self-help. It is generally agreed among students of social conditions that the people of Norway, Sweden, and Denmark, are better off than the people of any other countries in the world. There are neither the peaks of wealth for the few, nor the poverty, fear and uncertainty for many which characterize other highly civilized countries including those of the English speaking world.

One reason for this is that the Scandinavian peoples were about the first in Europe to see war in its true light. These Norsemen were descendants of the Vikings, the fiercest fighters in history, and the Swedes who were the conquerors of half of Europe. Yet long ago all these peoples gave up the practice of trying to rule weaker people in backward lands. They realized that the best job of uplift they could do was on themselves, not on the negroes, mongols, or arabic peoples.

In Denmark the folk high schools seem to me to be a vital part in the excellent plan for decent living. Boys and girls leave school at about 14 years of age, the Danish theory being that adolescents are better in actual contact with real life on the farm, or in the forestry camp, or what not. Then at about eighteen years of age the young people start teaching in to the folk schools for three yearly short courses—the girls in one group—the boys in another at a later season.

Everybody works while at school, another Danish idea being that ideas get better lodged in the brain if teaching is alternated with periods of hard work and real sweating. Incidentally, this system keeps the cost very low indeed. All the schools are privately run, with some governmental help and inspection.

There are no diplomas, no degrees. All that anyone takes away is what is in the head or heart. The whole idea is based not on competition, but on team play and harmony. Every lecture is preceded by a group song.

PUDDING'S PROOF
The Scandinavian system works. When the Great War broke out Sweden was in a very serious condition indeed because her normal commerce was ruined. The government set up a National Employment Board whose duty it was to make a list of nationally useful public works, and to have complete plans for carrying them out if and when needed. These were kept up to date from time to time. When the great depression came in 1930 Sweden knew what to do and did it.

Contrast our lack of system in Canada. When the depression came we had no plans of any kind. Then we rushed pell-mell into all sorts of construction, some good, some worse than useless. In Ontario we dug roadside ditches one year and filled them in the next. There was more graft, even than usual, because everything was done on a half-cock basis with no real forethought.

Then we stampeded away from public works altogether and concentrated on relief, or the dole. First we opened youth camps, then closed them, then opened them again, then closed them—now we have the former inmates of these camps to roam about the province wishfully hoping that they won't get together and do again what they did in Vancouver.

All of which comes back to adult education. If democracy is to work in Canada or any other country thousands more adults have got to begin studying the why and wherefore of the present world conditions.

As long as we imagine that we can solve our national troubles, merely by such moves as putting King out in 1930, and Bennett out and King in in 1935, our progress won't be very genuine.

ECONOMIST ON SWING
John Stuart Mill's essay on Liberty is supposed to be one of the finest bits of prose in the English language. Most modern economists class Mill as the chief spokesman for the laissez-faire system which went into decline in England with the end of the century. But Mill was as modern as 1838 in other ways. His recreation was music and he poured out his sympathy for the poor members of the orchestra whom he regarded as slaves to the leader's baton.

Swing music would have suited Mill, because his theory of swing is that each musician improvises as he goes along, just keeping close enough to the theme to be recognized as still being in the orchestra. Classical music seems to be like a stately military parade, rhythmically marching down the main street. Ragtime was when the marchers began to jump a bit instead of merely marching. Jazz was when whole groups of marchers began to go through queer antics, like teams of Shriners on parade. Swing is a parade where very single musician runs here and there, turning somersaults or undergoing convulsions, provided that all keep on the street and keep going with the procession. As for me, I'm old fashioned in my musical tastes. I think swing is fine in its right place, the jungle where it came from.

MISS GLADYS GRIFFIN BECOMES BRIDE OF CHARLES ASMAN

A wedding of interest to residents of Vernon and Pentiction was solemnized in the Vernon United Church, Thursday, August 18, when Gladys Lillian (Queenie), the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Griffin, became the bride of Charles Asman, of Pentiction, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Asman, of Greenwood, B. C.

The bride, who has had charge of the Pentiction branch of the business college there, has made many friends a number of whom made the trip to Vernon.

Both the bride and bridegroom are active in K. P. circles, and a deputation of that body also came up from Pentiction, to wish the happy couple God speed.

The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Jenkin H. Davies. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her away. She looked charming in a gown of white satin, which was cut on princess lines with lace yoke and lace inserted at sleeves; her floor-length veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. The bride's bouquet was of Ruben lilies, pale pink carnations and red roses, tied with a shower of white and gold ribbons. Miss Marion Griffin, cousin of the bride, was her sole attendant, and wore a very dainty gown of poudre blue georgette with shirred bolero effect, together with a shoulder length veil of pale blue net, held in place by a wreath of pale pink roses. Her bouquet was of Ophelia roses, blue salvia and fern, tied with streamers of pale blue and pink satin ribbons. The groom was supported by John Arthur, of Pentiction. Miss Catherine Bigland presided at the organ, and during the signing of the register, the bride's twelve-year-old brother sang "I Love You Truly". The ushers were James Griffin, Jr., and Russell Griffin, brother and cousin of the bride.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, her mother receiving the guests in an ensemble of black and white sheer, her corsage being composed of white carnations and fern. A four-tier wedding cake centered the tea table, with tall pink tapers on silver holders, over which hung a white wedding bell. The room's throughout were decorated with white streamers and small wedding bells. Following the ceremony the happy couple left on a motor trip to the Coast and other points. For travelling the bride chose a pale rose crepe dress, topped with a navy blue jacket. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Asman will reside in Pentiction.

Out of town guests were: from Greenwood: Mr. and Mrs. I. Asman, Miss Frances Asman, and Walter Deane. From Pentiction: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brodie, Mr. and Mrs. "Red" Bowering, Mr. and Mrs. Allan, Mr. and Mrs. Lilley, Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins, John Arthur, Miss Myrtle Collier, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon. Kelowna: Mrs. Gurr and Miss Tessie Gurr. Lumby: Mr. and Mrs. J. Wagner.

TASMANIA INSTITUTE ASKS VERNON W. I. TO BE HONORARY MEMBER

The Vernon Women's Institute has been asked by the Dilston branch of the Country Women's Association in Tasmania to become an honorary member, thus completing the "chain" of honorary members throughout the British Empire. This request will be complied with.

Mrs. Adam Grant, president of the local Institute, recently received a communication from the president of the Tasmanian Country Women's Association, Mrs. V. L. Ransom, asking the Vernon branch to become the Canadian link in the Empire chain of honorary members. How the Tasmanian association secured the name of the Institute here is not known.

Mrs. Ransom wrote, in part: "The Dilston branch of the C. W. I. in Tasmania would like to link up with the Vernon Women's Institute. Canada is the last link to complete the branches' chain round the British Empire. We do hope that your branch will concede to our request and that it may be accomplished in time for our annual meeting next October."

LEAGUE DELEGATES

Nellie McClung has been named one of the delegates to the new Assembly of the League of Nations. In her newspaper column Mrs. McClung recently suggested that the threatened war could be averted if the "have" nations voluntarily gave a slice of their possessions to the "have-nots." She mentioned giving a slice of Australia to Japan, if my memory serves me correctly.

If the Australians find out about that the next war may start in Geneva next month. On perhaps Nellie will amend her suggestion to give the Japs a slice of the McClung estate at Cobble Hill on Vancouver Island.

Personally, I do not think that real peace can be secured that way, that is by giving a slice of Africa to Germany or Italy. The Africans own it, and in the end will get it.

LIKE A CAT

If the League could have been killed it would have been killed long ago. Almost everything bad that could happen to it has already happened, and yet it survives. It was deserted by the nation which sponsored it. It was perverted by the great powers, chiefly France and Britain. It met open attack and secret betrayal. Yet it still lives, being as hard to kill as the proverbial alley cat.

The League idea can never die simply because it is an absolutely essential part of future human organization. World government will come, either by conquest or consent, simply because world government is the only alternative to increasing chaos. It comes by conquest then all of us will have to be Communists or Fascists. We will have to pretend that we really believe Stalin to be a Superman, or that Hitler is a noble being.

But my belief is that it won't come that way. I think the League will be rebuilt on a basis of live and let live. I believe that there is some reality in nationalism, and that people of the same tongue and color will always feel themselves more or less of an entity, hence they will insist on governing themselves in some respects, as nations now do.

GAME FISH CONTROL IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

The general sporting public, especially those interested in the art of angling, will no doubt be interested in hearing of the work being undertaken by the Game Commission in respect to its game fish culture policies. Since the first of the year, the Province has assumed control of its sport or inland fisheries, which were formerly under the jurisdiction of the Dominion.

Many hatcheries and eying stations formerly operated by the Dominion have been taken over and are at present in operation; the result of this work being that by the end of the year there will have been liberated approximately 13 million trout as eyed eggs, fry or fingerlings in various sections of British Columbia.

Besides this, a large number of stranded salmon and trout fry have been transferred from pools of water adjacent to rivers and liberated again in the main streams so that they might have a chance to survive. Each year owing to the drying up of the water this rescue work is necessary.

SHIPPERS STUDY PROPOSED PLAN FOR "ONE DESK"

Associated Executive Show Favorable Reaction After Meeting

A committee of shippers and members of the B.C. Tree Fruits Limited has prepared a tentative one desk sale arrangement for the marketing of the 1938 apple crop and the proposal is being examined by shippers. It was discussed on Tuesday at a meeting of the Associated Growers executive who indicated favorable consideration.

If it proves acceptable to other major shippers, it will be adopted as the medium for marketing the growing crop. Discussed on Tuesday by the B.C. F.G.A. executive, it roused no great enthusiasm and the press was asked to treat its provisions as confidential. Should it not be adopted within a very short space of time, however, the growers are going to take a hand in what will be done.

R. W. Ramsay who with A. W. Gray has been the backbone of the effort to secure a complete sign-up of the Standard Contract, urged drastic action. The Isaacs charges have put the growers in a frame of mind to take desperate measures and he advocated that a grower lodge a complaint with the Attorney General under the Sales on Consignment Act, which he states is being continually violated, and his opinion is they would get some place.

The Growers' Contract, or Standard Contract, has been largely signed by growers and W. E. Haskins reported that the effort he was to make to secure yes or no from all shippers, is not complete. He had been summoned to Victoria to confer with the minister and officials in the meantime and has not finished with the interviews. Therefore he was unable to report. Messrs. Gray and Ramsay have put a great deal of time on the contract and Mr. Ramsay said there are provisions in it which give the growers splendid protection. The sign-up of growers is about 80 percent and many of those who have not signed have been deterred by the statements by shippers to whom they are tied through advances of money. Mr. Ramsay protested against the mahogany red which is insisted on as block color on Delicious. He said that some strains of Delicious do not acquire that color and in attempting to get it to make up the top grades apples are left on the trees until they are mealy. He is to have an opportunity to present his views to the Grades Committee.

TO DISTRIBUTE CHARGES
Printed copies of the Isaacs charges are to be furnished the secretaries of all locals and members who wish to secure them are advised to call on their secretary. The copies will be forwarded as soon as the printer completes them.

Prices charged for box shock are the subject of further scrutiny on the request of the Associated Growers. It is said the price of boxes is lower in Washington and a corresponding reduction here is sought. The shippers suggested it would be to purchase foreign-made fruit wraps for an industry which enjoys Canadian tariff protection, was pointed out to the shippers.

That the Family Herald and Weekly Star is unrepresentative of its misrepresentation of the British Columbia fruit industry was the conclusion reached when it was known that newspaper has done nothing in reply to protests against misstatements made in its issue of July 13. In reply to protests against the tolls at the Pattullo Bridge and the bridge on the Cariboo highway, Hon. K. C. MacDonald, who was present, revealed they seldom collected the $2 toll at Spuzzum. To correct the false they are putting in a weigh scales.

Secretary Charles Hayden reports that he has not yet succeeded, though he has tried hard to locate a company which might insure fruit growers' property en masse. His efforts are continuing.

PLANNING APPLE WEEK
Apple Week in Vancouver will likely be in December to give the Fraser Valley crop an opportunity first to clear away and to give that impetus to sales before Christmas which is cherished by the fruit trade. A date will be set later. Correspondence is continuing regarding the right of the farmer to haul pickers to his property in his own truck. There is an obstacle in insurance regulations that Secretary Hayden hopes to straighten out. A special issue of the Kelowna Courier today, is to contain an expression of the fruit growers' thanks to the Pattullo Government for what it has done in providing primary producers, particularly fruit growers, with protective marketing legislation.

PENTICTON TO VOTE ON $100,000 BY-LAW

PENTICTON, B.C., Aug. 24.—Penticton ratepayers will go to the polls Friday, September 9, to vote on the council's $100,000 bylaw for improvement to the existing domestic water system, which has been described as hopelessly inadequate for the increasing needs of the area.

A ratepayers' meeting will be called on Tuesday, September 6, when full discussion will be given the subject. The funds will be raised through a loan of the two percent money available from Ottawa. Full consent from Ottawa has not yet been obtained, but the Provincial government has given virtual assurance that the application will be favorably considered.

The project provides for a new reservoir to hold approximately two million gallons of water, the location of the pipe-line around the hump and $30,000 expenditure on new mains in the town area to carry the added supplies of water. It is also planned to do approximately $10,000 worth of work around the present intake.

PENTICTON BEATS OROVILLE

PENTICTON, B.C., Aug. 24.—Oroville's senior squad "bit the dust" in an exhibition ball game at Oliver on Friday, as part of the celebration of the Centennial. Their opponents were a team mainly consisting of members of the Penticton Canadian Legion nine, the contest ending with a score of 13-3 for Penticton.

Fruit Probe - - -

That he did not think the actions of the Pattullo government towards the fruit and vegetable industries, rated charges or challenges, was the further statement by the doctor. The government has done everything in its power to better the conditions under which the primary producers of this province market their products. It is committed to continue this, therefore the language generally used to an enemy is not quite fitting. However, he said, it is prepared to "pass that up" and to continue as in the past to battle for equitable treatment for the producers. He said that the Isaacs charges will have to be shown as substantial, and if the government is to take cognizance of them, they must be preferred by the official body representative of the growers.

President A. K. Loyd said the charges had been preferred with theatrical effect and deprecated the challenge as a means of hurrying the government, but after all, "the meat of the charges is important" and he asked how best the Association, if it decided to press for action, could go about setting the wheels in motion.

KNEW NOTHING OF CHARGES

The B.C. Fruit Board knew nothing of the charges till they were made, said W. E. Haskins, president. He understood that Mr. Isaacs had stated he would make new starting disclosures at the meeting at Oliver on Sunday. He had not seen a report for them. Mr. Isaacs, later having made any such statement.

The procedure suggested by Dr. MacDonald is that a body, representative of the producers, should be willing to present the charges, after being satisfied of reasonable grounds, and the president of the association should press for investigation and action. Full opportunity for repudiation should be given those accused.

The Minister then outlined his ideas of the type of marketing set up which may have to be assured producers a fair return for their labors but he warned those present that they can only work gradually towards that end and that it can only be achieved with the full knowledge and consent of the consumers. He then left the executive to continue its deliberations.

Only a few minutes were taken by the executive in meeting Mr. Isaacs. When they had seen and examined the file of company records and seen the Reader affidavit, they asked if there was further supporting evidence and upon Mr. Isaacs promising to produce it, the committee was named and a resolution passed, that the association authorize it to wait on the minister and press for full investigation.

Holds Statement

Talking to R. B. Staples on Wednesday morning, The Vernon News was requested to hold from publication a brief statement which had been previously given to it. Mr. Staples said he had decided to prepare a full statement for next week's issue, and in plenty of time for publication.

Asked regarding the many rumors circulated that Sales Service is to disappear, and a company is to be incorporated under the Co-operative Societies Act, Mr. Staples said a lot of things had been considered but "we do not consider running away from fire."

He intimated there is complete agreement among those charged and asked for time in which to prepare and make a statement.

Previous Case

Action by the Dominion Government may be somewhat slow into the combining charges preferred by D. Godfrey Isaacs against the Western Grocers, the Dominion Fruit Limited, R. B. Staples, A. C. Lander, Lander Co. Limited, Sales Service Limited and other fruit shipping companies controlled by Lander Co. Limited.

This statement is made because it will be remembered that when the Crestland Fruit Co. combine was brought to the attention of the Registrar under the Combines Investigation Act, he refused to take any action because he said the Sales on Consignment Act provided proper remedy and that the provisions of that Act should be invoked.

Could Lay Charge

D. Godfrey Isaacs has made certain very definite and specific charges that the Western Grocers Limited, the Dominion Fruit Limited, R. B. Staples, A. C. Lander, Lander Co. Limited, Sales Service Limited and other fruit shipping companies controlled by Lander Co. Limited are a combine in contravention of the statute. Mr. Isaacs has submitted proof. In so far as the Provincial government is concerned, all that remains to do is for Attorney General Gordon Wismer, to lay charges under the Sales on Consignment Act. To do this, all that he has to do is to walk down the hall in the Parliament Buildings, at Victoria, to examine the Registrar of Companies.

There is no need for an "investigation" prior to laying the charges. He can take summary action and this is what the fruit growers of the Okanagan are demanding.

The following are extracts from the relevant portions of the Sales on Consignment Act:

27. (1) So far as the legislative authority of this Province extends, no corporation authorized to carry on the business of mercantile agent the major or a substantial portion of whose shares is held:

PENTICTON BOWLERS WIN

PENTICTON, B.C., Aug. 24.—Threatening weather did not deter the Penticton and Summerland bowlers, who played under the big lights on the Penticton greens on Wednesday night, August 17. The friendly competition between the two groups ended with a win for Penticton. However, the local team won by a slender margin, the Summerland group of four rinks of men and two rinks of ladies putting up some stiff competition.

Apple Storage Quality Is Much Affected By Treatment Of Trees

The development of the use of refrigeration for fruit preservation has been very rapid during the past decade due to the increased demand of the consumer for a product of first class quality. In addition there has been a steady increase in fruit production throughout the world and this has led to an all-year-round demand and the need for a uniform supply, thereby avoiding glut with concurrent low price levels.

Large quantities of apples and pears are shipped to the markets of the United Kingdom each year from Canada and refrigeration plays its part not only in the holding of these fruits, but also in their transportation.

A distinction must be made at the outset between the two methods of cold storage. The first designated as "pre-cooling" and the second as "long holding." Pre-cooling refers to the rapid cooling of fruits down to a temperature of approximately 40 degrees F. within 24 hours after harvest and is particularly applicable to pears, plums and the early dessert varieties of apples. Experiments have shown that packed barrels of apples may be cooled from 70 degrees F. to 40 degrees F. in 24 hours at a room temperature of 20 degrees F. with moving air. Such a process prevents the rapid ripening of freshly picked fruit by removal of the "vital heat."

It may be safely stated in this connection that even though pre-cooled fruit may be subsequently exposed to relatively high temperatures during transportation, its condition on arrival is far better than that of fruits not subjected to such treatment.

The term "long holding" necessarily speaks for itself, but this method of cold storage is full of pitfalls and has thus been the source of much investigation. Three experiments in operation, at Ottawa, Kentville, N.S., and Summerland, B.C. The main object of the experiments being undertaken is to provide the public with better quality fruit out of season. Quality of fruit in storage is dependent upon a great many factors and not the least important of these are those concerned with the growing fruit upon the tree such as soil and seasonal conditions and the stage of maturity at harvest.

It has been found that storage quality is much affected by the kind and amount of fertilizer applied to the tree. Excess nitrogen is detrimental in this respect, whereas moderate application of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash, i.e. a balanced fertilizer, has always given favorable results.

Seasons in which there is an excess rainfall and little sunshine are not conducive to good keeping in storage and likewise very dry periods followed by heavy rainfall.

The tendency to harvest immature apples is very soon reflected in internal breakdown known as core flush. This disorder is very marked in the immature McIntosh apple. Similarly Wagner apples which are not allowed to color on the tree are very susceptible to scald in storage.

Core flush development is also influenced by fertilizer treatment and by storage temperature. Strangely enough, however, certain storage temperatures may be conducive to core flush in one variety but not in another. For example, the Fameuse apple is susceptible to this disease at 40 degrees F. and resistant at 32 degrees F. whereas the reverse is true of McIntosh. Low temperatures such as 32 degrees are desirable from the point of view of control of fungal decay. The problem therefore with apples is to avoid low temperature types of breakdown, and at the same time prevent rotting of the fruit.

There are several types of storage disorders and the control of these is considered extremely complex when it is considered that each variety reacts specifically in storage to the major influences of temperature and stage of maturity at harvest.

BELL GIVES HIS VIEWS ON CANNING

A lengthy summary of the minimum wage question as it has affected the fruit and vegetable industry in recent years is given by Chairman Adam Bell, of the Board of Industrial Relations, in a communication to The Vernon News.

Mr. Bell points out that on August 15 last he wrote to the Board of Trade in reply to a telegram sent by them on a request for wage question as it related to the Okanagan's tomato canning industry. This wire was published, with several others, in last week's issue of this newspaper.

The board chairman suggests that the letter should be published in view of the fact that it contains informative material. This course, however, space will not allow. Salient points made by Mr. Bell were:

In 1933 the board made a reduction of 10 percent in wages for female employees in fruit and vegetable canning, which reduction was only one given to any industry through the years of depression. Special concessions were also issued in 1935 and 1936.

These concessions "should serve to show that there is no justification for the statement recently published that the canners felt that further representations to the board would be of little avail in the light of past experience," Mr. Bell says.

Last July two members of the board, one of whom was Mr. Bell, visited the Okanagan, meeting canners and packing house operators. On their return to the Coast a meeting of the board and Interior and Coast canners was arranged for August 5. On that occasion only the secretary of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association appeared and no definite proposition was laid before the board.

Mr. Bell further declares that the first definite proposition received from the canners was on August 11. A meeting of the board was hastily convened and a reduction of approximately 10 percent was promptly ordered in wages.

Made of an acid resisting plastic, an ink well has been invented that is asserted to prevent ink drying as rapidly as usual.

Mr. Burns publishes the Kentville Advertiser.

Through special arrangement with the Department of Education, the Vernon students who had supplemental examinations to write this year were given the opportunity to write them off in the Vernon High School building under the supervision of Rev. D. J. Rowland. Had this arrangement not been made these students would have found it necessary to go to Kelowna, the nearest centre provided by the department. Sufficient students have taken advantage of the opportunity to write the additional exams involving the first and second examinations were written on Wednesday.

"War within 10 months"—this seems to be the general view in England, where the present philosophy of life is built around this assumption, so L. L. Kerry, of Kelowna, once a member of The Vernon News staff, told Vernon Rotarians at their meeting Monday. This made for early marriages among other things. On the other hand, there never had been such activity in road building and home and flat building as was in evidence now in the United Kingdom. The actual living conditions of the working and middle classes were being improved progressively. From being backwoods England had become more progressive along this line and the speaker ascribed the change to the program which the Labor party had initiated. Mr. Kerry said that his mission to London was to see his aged parents. His father celebrated his 65th birthday last Sunday.

RECORD CROWDS AT OLIVER TO PROBE CHARGE

D. Godfrey Isaacs Heard By Overflow Audience Sunday Night

OLIVER, B. C., Aug. 22.—Wholehearted support was given Sunday night by Oliver-Osoyoos fruit and vegetable growers to Dennis Godfrey Isaacs in the first of his public meetings to discuss his sensational fruit combine charges.

The meeting expressed enthusiastic support of Mr. Isaacs in his efforts to clear up the fruit marketing situation, and without a dissenting voice a resolution was passed endorsing a motion resolution which called for investigation by provincial and Dominion governments.

It was the largest growers' meeting ever held in Oliver. The Legion Hall was packed with an audience of 300 and Mr. Isaacs' speech was carried by loud speaker to 150 more on the street outside the hall where they stood in groups or sat in their parked automobiles.

Albert Miller, Oliver grower whose name has become well known in the Okanagan through his criticism of the Tree Fruit Board, was chairman of the meeting.

Mr. Isaacs briefly sketched the Vernon meeting where the first guns were fired and the text of his charges which were published in detail in last week's issue.

MASS OF EVIDENCE

The speaker stated he thought it unwise to go into detail at this stage of the matter, but the growers could rest assured that a mass of evidence had been accumulated which, he believed, was sufficient to prove every statement he had made to the press.

Mr. Isaacs stated the need for growers to get behind the movement demanding a government investigation. He asked for 100 percent support from the growers, and he was heartily given it here.

In the question period which followed Mr. Isaacs was asked if there was a possibility of politics creeping into it and defeating the purpose of the investigation.

"I have every confidence in our provincial minister of agriculture and our attorney-general," said the speaker, "and I have every reason to believe they will act in the best interests of the public." He mentioned that he was pleased to see in the Vancouver press that it was reported the Provincial Government was prepared to support the investigation.

Asked as to who was paying the costs, Mr. Isaacs replied that up to date he had borne all expenses. "I started this thing, and I am going to see it through no matter what the cost," said the Oyoama grower.

Asked for proof of his charges against the alleged combine, Mr. Isaacs displayed a chart which purported to show various shippers and jobbers, and how the jobbers controlled these shippers by holding the majority of shares in their firms. This, he declared, was absolutely contrary to the Combines Act, Section 498 of the Criminal Code, and no further proof was necessary.

"Is this an effort to upset the Tree Fruit Board or the B. C. F. G. A.?" was one of the questions fired at Mr. Isaacs.

NO EFFORT TO UPSET

"Right here and now I want to say emphatically 'no!' replied the speaker. "The B.C.F.G.A. has been asked to support this investigation. A few days ago I had a talk with President A. K. Loyd, and I have every reason to believe the B.C.F.G.A. will stand solidly behind the demand for investigation. The support of the Tree Fruit Board is also being sought. Please understand that the charges have nothing to do with the policy or the organization of the industry."

Asked to explain the statement of G. A. Barnet, member of the Tree Fruit Board, which, according to the published report was to the effect that "stirring things up" at the present time amid the jobbing trade might lead to a slump in returns, Mr. Isaacs was reluctant to discuss it but said that he "failed to understand Mr. Barnet's attitude."

"I want to warn you growers, let no red herrings be drawn across the trail."

In answer to a question as to whether the investigation would be taken up under the provincial Sales on Consignment Act or by the Dominion Government under the Criminal Code, Mr. Isaacs said he hoped it would be investigated by the Dominion Government, but the matter rests with the growers to press for the investigation to be taken as far as possible.

"I shall be pleased if it is taken up under the Sales on Consignment Act, but I shall not be completely satisfied unless it is taken up by the Dominion Government under the Criminal Code."

A member of the audience asked, "If all our produce was marketed under a plan such as the one described, would that afford the grower protection against the combines?" Mr. Isaacs thought it would not do so. The combine must first be destroyed because any deal would be made with the combine in its existence. The growers must form a strong organization for the marketing of their produce. They must organize in such a way as to prevent the operation of a jobber-shipper combine and maintain eternal vigilance to prevent such a combine from starting up again.

To hint that discussion along these lines would be taken up at a later meeting.

FRUIT BOARD GIVES PRICE QUOTATIONS

Current prices on apples, crabapples and Flemish Beauty pears were announced by the B. C. Fruit Board last week. Gravenstein pears were named at 75 cents for f. and j. and $1 for wrapped. Dutchess were quoted at 60 cents and the shipment of the apples. Flemish Beauty pears were $1 for f. and j. and $1 for wrapped. Gravenstein apples may now be packed and marketed in sizes of 2 1/2 inches diameter and larger, the only packs permitted being wrapped, for orders only and cee, f. and j.

Estimates as first supplied by the shippers will be used as the basis for the first release of Wealthy apples, the Fruit Board states. Later releases will be based on actual quantities on hand this shipment. The small quantities of Wealthy apples moving, before the opening of the cartel, leading shippers are asking 65 cents for cee, f. and j. and $1 for wrapped.

The opening date for a Hyslop cartel will be announced later, the board states. In the opinion of the largest handlers of Hyslops, it will not be possible to market more than sixty percent of the estimated volume at any satisfactory price level. It is, therefore, recommended that each shipper advise his growers to pick and deliver only sixty percent of the estimate. If the market conditions improve later, it may then be possible to release a further quantity.

CHARGE AGAINST MAN AT KELOWNA WITHDRAWN

KELOWNA, B. C., Aug. 24.—A charge of manslaughter laid against Augustino Cacciolini, Kelowna Italian, who drove the light delivery truck in which Vittorio Martinato, another Kelowna Italian, met his death on Sunday, August 7, on the way to the Naramata volunteer road work, has been withdrawn by the attorney-general's department as a result of the evidence submitted to the coroner's jury at the inquest, and the resultant accidental death verdict. On Saturday, August 20, Cacciolini appeared in police court to answer to a charge of driving without a driver's licence and was assessed $10 and costs. The truck being driven by Cacciolini on the fatal day turned over the bank on a sharp corner and rolled over twice. Martinato, who was riding in the rear of the truck was thrown partly out and died almost instantly.

TO OPEN HYSLOP CARTEL

A cartel for Hyslop crabapples will be opened on August 26, and on that date an initial release of 25 percent will be declared. It has been divulged by the B. C. Fruit Board.

Range Livestock Are Affected By Poisons Producing Paralysis

Timber Milk Vetch Is Plant To Be Carefully Guarded Against

At this time of year large numbers of livestock on the range areas of the Interior are found to be suffering from a disease known as "timber paralysis," or "jack-pine fever." The affected animals show signs of paralysis, particularly in the hind legs, along with loss of flesh, and other symptoms. Death results only in the worst cases, but the most common condition is one in which the animal remains unthrifty, fails to make normal summer gains, and often succumbs during the winter. Cattle, horses and sheep may all be affected, but the damage is greatest among cattle. Undoubtedly "timber paralysis" is the commonest form of livestock poisoning, and is a serious detriment to the production of range stock in many parts of the Interior. According to E. W. Tisdale, officer in charge of the Dominion Range Experiment Sub-station at Kamloops, the cause of this poisoning lies in the eating of Timber Milk Vetch. "This is a slender, pinkish, flowered vetch without tendrils, which grows in small to medium sized bunches and reaches a height of from 10 to 16 inches. Flowering occurs in late June and July, while the seed ripens in August.

PLANT EATEN READILY

The plant is eaten fairly readily by all classes of livestock, and particularly when it is in the flower and early seed stages. Most poisonous plants are eaten by stock only when more desirable feed is scarce.

This plant occurs in the lower and middle timber ranges, in the zone of Douglas Fir, Yellow Pine and Lodgepole Pine. It is widely distributed over the Interior, and few timber ranges are free from it. It should not be confused with the vetch and climbing vetch which are excellent feeds.

SYMPTOMS OF POISONING

The symptoms of timber milk vetch poisoning differ somewhat for the various classes of livestock. Since cattle are affected most, only the symptoms affecting them will be discussed. The first sign of poisoning is usually weakness and incoordination in the hind legs. Loss of flesh and a peculiar "roaring" or loss of voice are common symptoms also. In bad cases there is drooping at the mouth, and urinary irritation. Post-mortems have shown that the heart and nerves are the organs affected most.

The time required for symptoms of poisoning to develop varies from a few days to several weeks, depending on the condition of the animal, amount of timber milk vetch eaten, class of animal, etc. Cows with calf are affected worse than dry stock, but the calves of poisoned cows show no signs of injury.

TREATMENT OF ANIMALS

At present there is no good remedy for timber milk vetch poisoning, affected animals benefit by being turned onto a range where the Timber Milk Vetch is absent, but this practice is often very difficult to follow. In any event, sick animals should never be driven fast or excited, as any strain on the heart is very liable to result in death. Since cows with calf are most susceptible, it is good practice to keep the breeding herd on the portions of the summer range where the timber milk vetch is least abundant.

CONTRIBUTING FACTORS

Certain factors which aggravate timber milk vetch poisoning are as follows: (1) Overgrazing—Although the plant is palatable, animals in good condition with plenty of other feed available are not going to be as susceptible or eat as high a proportion of timber milk vetch as animals on an overgrazed range. (2) Lack of salt for cattle—Pasture to provide cattle with salt on the range causes them to hang around alkaline water-holes and natural "salt licks," overgrazing the adjacent areas and consuming large amounts of Spanish and other injurious salts in order to obtain a little of the common salt which they crave. By proper use of salt, more uniform grazing may be obtained and the alkali problem avoided.

JOBBER-SHIPPER COMBINE CHARGES STIR OKANAGAN GROWERS

RECEPTION of the Isaacs charges that there exists an illegal jobber-shipper combine in the sale of Okanagan fruits and vegetables, indicates a complete willingness on the part of the authorities to take appropriate action when the charges are laid before them.

In the absence of Premier Pattullo and of Attorney-General Wismar, Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, expressed the opinion that the necessary action would be taken by Provincial Government authorities, a statement which has since been confirmed by the Attorney-General. The Hon. James Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion, a visitor to the Okanagan Valley today, is also reported to have indicated that no one can flout or defy with impunity the Combines Investigation Act.

In the meantime, D. Godfrey Isaacs has laid before the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Executive, his charges and the supporting evidence, and on Tuesday that organization named a committee to carry them before the Provincial Attorney-General and the Dominion Minister. It is understood that Attorney-General Wismar will be waited on on Wednesday and that probably the Hon. Mr. Gardiner will be seen today, Thursday.

This simple recital of facts gives only the barest outline of events uncolored by rumors, opinions, or prejudices. It affords no real glimpse of the excitement which pervades this Valley from one end to the other, or of the echoes and re-echoes which swept the Dominion. It gives no indication of the searching of records there must have been, or of the time and expense incurred in bringing facts to light, or of attempts to co-relate them.

Following the dramatic launching of the challenges and charges at Vernon, D. Godfrey Isaacs has been the recipient of requests to address meetings of growers at several centres in the valley. He complied with two of these, and at Oliver on Sunday was greeted by an audience which overflowed the capacity of the building. Loudspeakers were installed and it is said that more than one hundred stood outside the building to hear for themselves a repetition of the charges. Again at Keremeos, on Monday afternoon, men ceased their employment to listen to him. The B.C.F.G.A. local at Penticton arranged a meeting for Wednesday but Mr. Isaacs, having demonstrated the all-absorbing interest by the growers, asked to have it called off.

So far there has been almost a complete absence from public discussions of any other than the main issues. Isaacs demands action by the Provincial authorities under the Sales on Consignment Act and by the Dominion under the Combines Investigation Act, and there appears to be an inclination to have one follow the other. Such a course would not satisfy the growers. It is held that it is much more easy to establish a charge under the Sales on Consignment Act than it is under the Combines Investigation Act. That it can be done more speedily and at much less expense. Mr. Staples has not, at least publicly, requested investigation along this line, but his wishes in this matter should be subordinated to that of what is deemed the public interest. He promises a full statement for our next publication.

Once again Hon. K. C. MacDonald is proving himself a tower of strength to the primary producers of British Columbia. No one realizes so keenly as he does, that the existence of a jobber-shippers combine can completely frustrate the orderly marketing of fruits and vegetables. The Doctor has given his life in public service and he will be remembered lovingly by thousands of British Columbians as the first Minister in this province to grasp the full significance of the new order of events. He can be depended on to lend his full weight either in the clearing up of charges if they prove unfounded, or of ridding the industry and society of a stumbling block which has its roots in unscrupulous striving for ill-gotten gains.

To the charges by Roy Staples, echoed by his auditor, Robert Cheyne, that there is being conducted "news-paper trials," there is so far as we have been able to observe, a complete answer. It lies in the columns of the newspapers themselves. They have printed the news. They have refrained from comment. Possibly for this they need claim no great virtue. There are very strict laws, laws which many newspapers hold to be grossly unfair, which govern and regulate the printing of news. In addition, no men in this country hold it more dearly to their heart than most newspapermen that no one is guilty of any offence until it has been proven.

No matter what the outcome should be of the investigations which appear to be imminent, there should be a further locking of the doors of opportunity to do the sort of thing that is charged.

Already the government has a Superintendent of Brokers, charged, as we understand it, with keeping a watchful eye on the operations of firms engaged in dealing in stocks and bonds. Why not a superintendent of firms dealing in the products of the soil, particularly those which go on the market on consignment?

Possibly such an appointment would be most efficient if made by the Dominion government. On such a matter the province and the Dominion might consult and agree. In any event jobber-shipper combines, understandings, or working arrangements, are not in the public interest and should be guarded against. Maybe there is a better way. If so, let's have it!

Haying Time

The fertile promises of spring
Fulfill in forest lavender:
When pollinated anthers swing,
Cut the ripened provender.

Ask any farmer—he will know
The appointed day and hour:
When the curved blade, hang it low,
Seythe the fodder, stalk and flower.

Redtop, bluegrass, timothy—
Stuff the haylofts rafter-high:
Food for cattle, loss for me,
As though the green sea had gone dry.

VERNON IS LEARNING FUN OF DOING THINGS IN A BIG WAY

VERNON Days and Klondyke Nights are a success in this city. No one could doubt this who had any knowledge of the celebration here on Wednesday and Thursday of last week. A good time was had and there remains a cash surplus of $2,500 to go towards the worthy objectives sponsored by the Kinsmen Club.

It may sound like a lot of foolishness, but it is established in the minds of those best in a position to know, that whisks did it. It was not the whisks which were hastily and artfully acquired under the skillful manipulation of "Bill" Atkinson and his bevy of beautiful ladies—though these helped—but the whisks of the good old sort that Dad used to sport.

To begin with, the growth which adorned the faces of many of the young men gave resounding publicity to the event. Wherever they went they were marked men. Every one was inquiring about them and they made the pages of the daily newspapers, at the Coast.

The horse racing card was a good one. It attracted people from a wide area. The number of horses and the uncertainty of the track contributed just that edge which makes for upsets in the racing form. Uncertainty plus the disguise built up by the whisks, added many dollars to the wagers and contributed largely to the fun.

Klondyke Nights were really reminiscent of Dawson City times. Whisks, acquired for the event, made for a spirit of adventure which seemed to stir everyone. There was no let-up to the merriment until a late hour and then to the dances went the throng. Everybody entered into the spirit of the occasion and flung dull care out the window to the damage of corns and bunions.

Chiefly the events are remarkable in retrospect for the whole-hearted way in which all participated to the building up of a community spirit which ought to be useful.

It has been said there was no uniting Vernon people in a common objective. Vernon Days and Klondyke Nights showed how far we have progressed since the days not long since, when a group of young fellows decided that Vernon should have a Sports Arena and went out and got the necessary support for it at the polls. The Arena is one of the few places in the Okanagan Valley where such a celebration could be staged.

Just a word about the Sports Arena and the Commission which is in charge. When this Commission was a-borning, there was the suggestion, that, being a city owned building, the Arena would be requisitioned by all organizations politically powerful enough to reach the ears of the Aldermen. Provision against that was incorporated in the document empowering the Commission to act. The members of the Commission are foremost in promotion of many ventures in addition to the Sports Arena. They are among our best citizens. Any idle or malicious rumors that the Commission did this or did not do this, should be discounted by all worthy people. We should hope and pray the same personnel may carry on forever. Despite what any detractor says they are manfully carrying a heavy load and it is our bounden duty to lighten, not add to it.

The Kinsmen Club, and the leadership it is giving, is doing wonders for Vernon, and Vernon is proud of them.

BEST DEFENCE IS GOOD FOOD, EXERCISE, AND SOUND SLEEP

INFANTILE Paralysis cases already number 113 with nine deaths in the four Western Provinces, is distressing news. It reminds Vernon people of the blight which fell on this city last year. In other years it has struck other cities.

So far, poliomyelitis is not only an unpredictable disease but it is a baffling one. It strikes many first born. It always leaves its mark.

The best defense is plenty of good food, exercise in the open air, and restful slumber, to build up resistance. A serene and joyous outlook on life is defensive armor. Go heavily clad.

ROOSEVELT'S STATEMENT SHOWS U. S. ACCEPTS RESPONSIBILITY

CANADIANS are heartened by President Roosevelt's statement that the people of the United States would not stand idly by, if Canada were attacked by a foreign power.

Even supposing this statement has been made before, and by a President of the United States, we must confess we are delighted to hear it repeated, Canada, and particularly the Pacific Coast portion of the Dominion, is vulnerable. We are out-thrust into the Pacific Ocean across which Japan is warring on China to gain territory and markets. Supposing, just supposing, Japan turned her efforts eastward!

But this is no reason why Canada should lag behind in preparedness.

A comforting thought, mentioned by the New York Times, is that the Roosevelt utterance makes it clear to the democracies of the world that the U.S. is emerging from its isolation and is feeling its way towards acceptance of the responsibilities of a great world power.

A SUDDEN INTEREST IN THE WEATHER

From The Vernon News Files

Validity of the B.C. Produce Marketing Act was upheld by Mr. Justice Murphy this week in a written judgment filed on the habeas corpus application made Thursday, August 30, 1938 on behalf of Chung Chuck, who submitted to a fine of $10 to test the measure in the courts.

TEN YEARS AGO—Judgment filed on the habeas corpus application made Thursday, August 30, 1928 on behalf of Chung Chuck, who submitted to a fine of $10 to test the measure in the courts. "Strawberry Red" Wall and Mrs. Rose Wall left Vernon on Friday for Port Angeles, Washington, where they will stage a stampede. They were accompanied by Bert Ellison who will act as a judge. Before leaving, the bucking horses and cow ponies were shipped. After the stampedes are concluded the horses will be shipped here to winter. They came out rolling fat this summer and their first drill with rifles early this week. Much interest is being shown in the corps by the young men of the district and very satisfactory progress is being made in the drill. The school cadet corps had their first drill on Thursday; about twenty boys turned out. Judging from the progress made at this preliminary practice, it will be but a short time before the cadets will know their squad drill thoroughly. A complete set of single desks has been installed in the public school to replace the old and outdated double seats. They should prove a great improvement not only to the appearance of the room but also to the efficiency of the classes.

The sudden change in prevailing temperature has produced a corresponding change in the plans of many local campers at the Vernon Fire

THIRTY YEARS AGO—An enjoyable social function took place in the Vernon Opera House this week when Mr. and Mrs. Price Ellison and the Misses Ellison entertained their friends at a ball which was one of the most successful of the kind that has ever been held in this city. The music, the first furnished at a ball by the orchestra, was supplied by the Vernon Fire Brigade Band. The Okanagan Mounted Rifles held their first drill with rifles early this week. At the meeting of the City Council this week, it was decided to inform the Royal Electric Co., of Victoria, that the city does not contemplate the installation of an electric system of lighting. Large quantities of tomatoes are coming in from across Okanagan Lake. A good price is being obtained. Hundreds of Swishes, from Nicola, are making their way to the Coldstream Ranch for the hop picking. The crop is reported to be very large this year. A rather serious accident occurred on the S. & O. Railway last week when three valuable head of cattle were killed. The accident occurred close to the sharp curve on the corner near the outskirts of the city; the cattle had wandered on to the track at this dangerous point. When the train rounded the curve Engineer Van A. Wern saw the cattle and did all in his power to avert the accident but had not time to reverse the engine. Dr. Dawson, of the Geological Survey Department at Ottawa, arrived this week to prepare a map of this district showing the various mineral claims and giving all geological information in connection with them. Acetylene gas seems destined to become the popular light in this country, and before long it will be used for lighting a large number of local stores and offices.

A meeting of the officers and other ladies interested in the various women's war work is to be held this week. Among other matters to be considered are the sale of Christmas parcels for soldiers and the appeal recently issued by the Prisoners of War committee at Vancouver for a tag for this fund to be held some time at the end of this month. The Fire Brigade was called out on Tuesday morning to a fire at the hospital but it was found on arrival that it was merely a chimney fire. Soldiers of the 80th medals were presented to many local boys at a meeting held in the Court House this week. Dr. K. C. MacDonald presided at the meeting in the absence of the Minister of Education, Mr. MacLean. The girl fire pickers at the Coldstream Ranch gave an open air concert in aid of Red Cross funds last week. Many excellent songs and choruses were sung to the accompaniment of a piano. A hearty appreciation and applause from the visitors. R. C. Treherne, Dominion Entomologist, finds that an injurious insect known as Alfalfa Seed Chalcid has been found to be destroying a considerable amount of alfalfa seed in some sections of the valley.

Old Country Tests Drivers

LONDON—More than one-third of the world's motorists of Britain are unable to drive because they have failed to pass the driving test.

In order to obtain their license they will have to try and try again until they can satisfy the examiners that they are safe drivers and that they know the rules of the road.

The standard required in the test is now considerably higher than it was three years ago, in its first year. The actual test has not been altered, but examiners are demanding a higher degree of capability.

Latest statistics help to prove this. The total percentage of failures up to July 10 was 28.98. The percentage of failures for the week ending July 10 was 33. It has been around or above this figure for some time.

Every week more than 12,000 persons apply to be tested in this country. They have to apply at least two weeks before they want the test to take place, the crush is so great.

The test itself takes only about half an hour to complete. It is fairly elementary. The applicant for the license must be able "to start, the engine of a vehicle; to move away straight ahead or at an angle; to take the appropriate course; turn right and left hand corners correctly; and so on through the various manoeuvres every motorist has to make at some time in the course of his career.

But this is the least important part of the test. Whether the applicant gets his license or not depends on whether the examiner thinks he is a "safe" driver, and whether he can answer correctly questions on the Highway Code.

The Highway Code is a booklet of instructions on the proper use of the King's Highway, issued by the Ministry of Transport, and approved by the House of Parliament. It has no force in law, however. Yet it is the most important part of the driving test. It comprises 107 separate instructions, and a complete list of the authorized signals. A slip-up during the oral examination on the Highway Code is the surest way to failure in the driving test.

The way to pass is to know how to work the speeds and the steering wheel, and to "satisfy the Examiner generally, that the (the applicant) is competent to drive without danger to and with due consideration for other users of the road."

Although the test is not as difficult as those of some countries on the mainland of Europe, where 100 hours of instruction are sometimes necessary before a driver reaches the required standard, the British authorities believe it to be a good test, and a hard test.

"In my opinion the British driving test is a very good and a very fair test," W. H. Wilson, of the British School of Motoring, largest instructors in Britain, declared. "It is not a test of 'good' driving, clever driving. It is a test of safe driving."

"It is not an easy test," Mr. Wilson added. "I am certain that 90 percent of those drivers who were licensed before 1934 and so escaped the test would fail in it, if they took it now."

"You have got to prove that you are perfectly safe, a hand signal once or twice, or take a corner too wide once, or make a noise on the gears through nervousness. But if you are careless in your hand signals, or continually take corners too wide or too sharp, or obviously do not know how to shift speed properly, you will be failed."

"But to my mind the most important part of the test is the Highway Code. Most of the pre-test drivers do not even know the Highway Code now. I wish they did. Everybody ought to know it by heart, as all who take the test must."

"A person who has learned how to pass the test and knows the Highway Code is bound to be a safe driver."

"Many have criticized the test as being too simple," Mr. Wilson concluded. "But I have passed out 200 pupils a week from my school for many months, and I am convinced that with the higher standard now demanded the test is a successful one. I think it does a good job."

Not only motorists have to take the test. Tram and bus drivers, steam-roller men, and such road users must make a test on the vehicle of the type they intend to drive.—Christian Science Monitor.

Across Canada, throughout the United States, in London and many other capitals of the world, government leaders and the press expressed themselves strongly on the statements of President Roosevelt, at Kingston, Ont., and at the international bridge ceremonies. In London, a newspaper said the president's "momentous pledge" that the United States would not stand idly by if domination of Canadian soil is threatened, "becomes part of the history of the British Empire." United States administration officials expressed gratification at the favorable reception which European capitals accorded President Roosevelt's speech at Kingston. Officials generally believed that the president's pledge of support in event of invasion of Canada, and the warning of Cordell Hull, secretary of state, that all nations must choose between the forces of militarism and aggression and those of law and order would strengthen the struggle of European democracies against the dictatorial powers and help to postpone any large scale outbreak of hostilities in Europe. "I can assure you that the people of the United States will not stand idly by if domination of Canadian soil is threatened by any other empire." Thus President Roosevelt, attired in the robes of his degree at the special convocation called by Queen's university to confer upon him the honorary degree of doctor of laws, announced to the throng gathered in Richardson stadium, Kingston, an historic extension of the Monroe doctrine. James A. Richardson, of Winnipeg, chancellor of Queen's university, Kingston, welcomed President Roosevelt and presented him with the honorary degree of doctor of laws from the historic seat of learning.

A much more favorable attitude towards the proposal for a British Columbia-Alaska Highway will be taken by the Canadian Government, as a result of President Franklin Roosevelt's visit to Canada, a Government spokesman said this week in Ottawa. Consideration is being given to the nomination of a body to meet with the International Highway Commission, which the President was authorized by Congress last May to appoint. The commission is for the purpose of studying the location, construction and plans for the financing and building of such a highway. The Dominion has been rather lukewarm towards the project. On the understanding discussions were to be purely of a fact-finding nature, representatives of the Federal Government conferred with American authorities at Victoria in October, 1931. It was agreed at the conference construction would be feasible from an engineering standpoint. Later in the month, however, the Dominion and provincial administrations decided the cost made the scheme impracticable at that time.

United States Agriculture Secretary Wallace, proposed that the United States and Canada—North American competitors in the world's wheat markets—get together on methods of salesmanship that would, in effect, avoid "throat-cutting." Before deciding on an export subsidy program, he said, United States officials will confer with Canadians to see whether the two countries can "work cooperatively" to "preserve the interests of both." Present prospects point, grain experts say, to a world wheat supply of at least 1,000,000,000 bushels available for export markets expected to need only half that much. Because of indications of an exportable supply of about 300,000,000 bushels of wheat, the Canadian government has announced it would enter world markets even if it had to sell below prices paid farmers and take a loss.

Presentation of briefs to the royal commission now investigating Winnipeg finances and system of administration may end next week, Dr. H. Carl Goldenberg stated, although it is possible that later on other bodies may make public submissions. The real work will start when the chairman said, when the commission gets down to check the dozens of questionnaires now being received from the several city departments, containing a huge amount of information that will have to be pieced together, so that there will be a complete picture for study. The commission will hardly be ready to report until mid-November.

The University of British Columbia conferred its highest honor—a Doctorate in Laws—upon four members of the Canadian Bar and American bars. Those receiving the honor were Sir Lyman P. Durr, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada; Viscount Finlay of Nairn, Judge of the English High Court of Justice, King's Bench Division; Arthur T. Vanderbilt, professor of law at New York University and former president of the American Bar Association; and Senator J. W. de B. Harris, retiring president of the Canadian Bar Association.

L. E. Beaulieu, K.C., of Montreal, was elected president of the Canadian Bar Association at the 23rd convention in Vancouver. Mr. Beaulieu, Dominion vice-president during the past year, succeeded Senator J. W. de B. Harris, of Vancouver, to the presidency. Ward Wright, K.C., of Toronto, vice-president for Ontario last year, succeeds Mr. Beaulieu. J. R. Marshall, of Hamilton, Ont., was elected vice-president for Ontario. All other vice-presidents for the provinces were re-elected. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Dominion minister of justice, is honorary president.

Prof. A. R. M. Lower, of United College, Winnipeg, advanced an ironic solution to the problem of rehabilitating Canadian agriculture during discussion of the Canadian Institute of Economics and Politics, at Lake Umbagog, Ont. He said the best method would be to "have another war and another railroad—if we can get the money from somewhere else."

Prime Minister Mackenzie King last week inspected thousands of troops gathered at the Camp Borden training camp for summer manoeuvres and pronounced them "a fine, clean-cut set of Canadians." Cavalry, infantry, mechanized transport, tanks and airplanes went through training throughout the afternoon before the Prime Minister.

The index number for the cost of electricity for domestic uses in Canada, with 1926 as 100, declined to 81.25 in 1937 from 85.43 in 1936, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported. A drop was shown in every Province except Manitoba, where it was unchanged.

Dalhousie University at Halifax, has issued an appeal for $4,410,000 to cover cancellation of present debt, additional construction and erection of new buildings. A printed appeal was distributed to graduates and students attending the university's centennial reunion celebrations.

A 707-pound sturgeon captured in the Fraser River, near Vancouver, recently was very old as well as very big. An examination of concentric rings on the scales, showed the monster had lived at least 100 years.

Unable to meet the demand of the city unemployment relief committee that medical relief costs be cut $40,000, doctors may go on strike and force the city to set up its own medical service for relief recipients.

Selections from two of the most popular musical comedies ever written will be played on the CBC program, "Musical Mirror" on Sunday, August 28, from Vancouver at 7:30 p.m. PST. Harry Fryce directs the orchestra, accompanied in two numbers by the trio, "Two Girls and a Boy." Fryce's "pit" orchestra plays songs from Jerome Kern's "Sweethearts." The latter was in the 1913 hall of fame. The great American bandleader and composer, J. P. Sousa, receives a salute with his "Liberty Bell."

The CBC presents Norma Abernethy in a piano program in its weekly series, "In Recital," Sunday, August 28, from 10 to 10:15 p.m. PST. It is from Vancouver. Miss Abernethy will play four selections in her quarter-hour period: an "Inferno," Opus 118, by Brahms; "Menuet" by Maurice Ravel; "Amberley Wild Spooks," John Ireland; and "The Spinning Girls of Carantec," Rhene-Baton. Ravel is one of the most outstanding of modern French composers. He was prolific and lived well into middle age. His death occurred very recently, in the early part of 1938. He is best known for his stirring dance, "The Bolero," but it was by no means his own favorite, nor is it recognized as his greatest work. As a matter of fact, the composer hated this piece and for years would not listen to it.

A Schumann program will be played by Doris Walton, pianist, when she is presented by the CBC in the feature, "In Recital," Sunday, September 4, at 10 p.m. PST. Miss Walton will broadcast from Vancouver. The first movement, the "Allegro," from "Faschingsschwank aus Wien," opens the program. This is the "Vienna Carnival Scene" which has been chosen lately by several other network artists.

It's strange but true that the songs from musical shows which become the big commercial hits are seldom the songs that go over with the audience at a musical show. To put it another way, the songs that stop the show at a musical are not necessarily the ones that win the public's fancy. This is one of the many odd facts that Robert Emmet Dolan, brilliant young maestro, has brought to light in his port of Miss Dolan's program, "The Musical Show," on Thursday, August 25, from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. PST. In his researches to uncover little known facts about well known melodies and their composers, Dolan has brought to light an interesting "Moon," one of the greatest song hits of Rodgers and Hart. Dolan discovered that this song was published twice, each time with different lyrics, before it became famous.

Even Bob Ripley can hardly believe it, believe it or not! "The most incredible feat I have ever seen a human being perform," is his verdict on the sensational fire-walking exhibition given by Kuda Bux on the Believe-It-or-Not program over the NBC-Blue Network. "Even after seeing Kuda Bux wade ankle deep through ashes glowing at 1200-degrees, I can hardly believe that a human being could do it," Ripley adds.

The deep notes of Bass-baritone Bull Carr, well-known from his appearance on CBC's "By the Sea," will add variety to "Music Never Dies," Friday, August 26, 8:00 to 8:30 p.m. PST, when the veteran Vancouver singer will be the assisting artist with Percy Harvey's orchestra. Mr. Carr will be heard in "The Two Geniuses," Robert Schumann's famous ballad, and "The Armourer's Song" from Reginald de Koven's "Robin Hood."

In accordance with a new policy of staff mobility designed to broaden the national outlook of CBC executives, two important staff transfers were announced in a statement issued following the close of the third annual National Broadcasting Corporation, held at the station manager of CBL, Toronto, goes to Station CBR, Vancouver, replacing J. R. Radford, who goes to Toronto as manager of CBL. These changes are set for October 1.

NOVA SCOTIA ONLY PROVINCE TO SHOW BIGGER APPLE CROP

Production Reported Slightly Lower In B. C. And In Ontario

Preliminary estimates of the 1938 principal tree fruit crops in Canada show that Nova Scotia expects a production of apples totalling 2,250,000 barrels, equal to the total output in that province in 1937. The Ontario Department of Agriculture. The other commercial apple producing provinces: British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec, expect yields somewhat below last year's. British Columbia estimates the total yield of apples for the province at 5,172,000 boxes, 48,300 below the 1937 production. Ontario will have, according to the most recent calculations, 681,200 barrels, 64,100 less than a year ago, while Quebec will return 149,000 barrels, 28,000 barrels below last year. In 1937 the yield in New Brunswick was 44,000, but no estimate has yet been made for the 1938 crop in that province.

British Columbia has a bumper crop of pears this year. The total production is placed at 300,000 bushels, 67,236 more than in 1937. Ontario's crop is estimated at 180,200 bushels, 5,300 less than a year ago. Nova Scotia expects a yield of 6,565 bushels, about the same as last year. Pears are grown in Canada in the Niagara Peninsula of Ontario and the Okanagan Valley of British Columbia. This year the expected output in Ontario is figured at 515,200 bushels, 10,500 below the yield in 1937, and British Columbia will give a crop of 152,200 bushels, 33,500 bushels more than last year. The peach crop this year is of excellent quality and is now on the market.

Plums and prunes in Ontario and Nova Scotia promise a yield this year about equal to that of a year ago. Ontario estimates a return of 56,350 bushels and Nova Scotia 11,155 bushels. British Columbia's crop of plums and prunes estimated for 1938 at 104,000 bushels is 27,000 less than in 1937. The apricot production in British Columbia, the only province growing this fruit in commercial quantities, is expected to be 59,000 bushels, about 5,000 under last year.

For the first time in many years fresh Canadian cherries were exported this year to the British market from British Columbia, and substantial shipments of plums are moving from Ontario to British buyers.

In recent years, principally as a result of experiments carried on at the Dominion Experimental Station, Morden, Manitoba, fruit production has developed in the Prairie provinces, particularly plums and apples, though not in substantial commercial quantities. Success has been attained with apricots and this year a moderate crop of the fruit will be picked at the Morden Farm, which specializes in fruit growing and horticulture.

WALLACE BEERY SEEN IN "BAD MAN" ROLE

Epic saga of the West and the story of how law and order supplanted the reign of the six-gun, "The Bad Man of Brimstone," starring Wallace Beery, comes to the Empress Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, August 31 and September 1.

Directed against scenes of rugged grandeur in the Zion National Forest of Utah, "The Bad Man of Brimstone" is the story of a gangster of the '80s whose reign is interrupted by the discovery of a stranger who is attempting to clean up Brimstone is his own son.

The part of the son is taken by Dennis O'Keefe. O'Keefe falls in love with the daughter of Brimstone's crooked judge, Virginia Bruce.

and other accessories. Tests made at Ottawa over distances comparable to those over which it will be required to operate indicate that the equipment should be suitable for its intended use, namely to operate in conjunction with the Signals Station of the Department of National Defence at Akivik and to maintain communication with the reindeer station during the annual periods of break-up and freeze-up when travel over extended distances is not possible in that country. The transmitter is designed to operate on short-wave at a fixed frequency of about 4324 kilocycles.

CANOE MILL RUNNING TO CAPACITY CUTTING STAND OF WHITE PINE

Enderby Residents Have Narrow Escape In Accident Near Mabel Lake

ENDERBY, B.C., Aug. 22.—Percy Rutland's mill, which was formerly operated at Trinity Valley, is running now at Canoe. During the past few weeks the mill has been running two shifts a day but due to a broken belt a number of men were laid off for a few days. They returned to their jobs however again on Sunday. It is expected the men will be steadily employed until early winter on a cut of white pine.

On Sunday afternoon as Ted Peel was driving to Mabel Lake he met E. Skelley on a blind turn this side of Falls Creek. The road at this point is so narrow there is hardly room for two cars to pass. The Peel car, being on the outside, settled into the loose gravel at the side of the road. Mr. Skelley, seeing the danger of an upset, stopped his car and came back to the scene, helping to keep the car from turning over until further help was secured. Ted Peel was on his way to Mike Rowan's home to obtain aid when he met Bill Garrett, the forest ranger, returning with a truck load of fire fighters, who helped to lift the car back on the road, enabling Mr. Peel to continue his journey to Mabel Lake.

"Exploitation, Abuse" Could Spring From Marketing Combine

F. J. Burns, of Kentville, Pays Close Attention To Charges Heard Here

"The jobber-shipper combination opens the door to abuse and exploitation," said F. J. Burns, president of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, who was a visitor to this city last week, stopping off here while en route from the Vancouver to the Maritimes.

His interest in the present agitation among growers was a very great one. For he is publisher of the Kentville Advertiser, in Canada's fruit growing area on the other side of the continent in Nova Scotia.

He strongly supported the suggestion that an investigation should be undertaken, following the charges that have recently been made public. "Particularly," he said, "at a time when the primary producers of Canada are fighting for an existence which they are entitled to and must have if the Dominion is to prosper."

The charges of a shipper-jobber combine are the major topic throughout the Okanagan Valley and well it may be, he added, "for have not the primary producers, especially in the fruit producing areas of Canada, been fighting for legislation that will enable them to keep their heads above water during the past five years? Have they not had to increase cost of production, faced by the vigorous fight against insidious insects, the gain in general production of fruit, as well as a decidedly lower purchase power?"

"The road has been hard to travel and the results of labor negligence. It is only reasonable to expect that they should ask for protection that will eliminate any hurdle between the producer and the consumer. There is a place in the scheme of things for the shipper and the jobber but not on the same side of the desk. The charges made by Mr. Isaacs and supported by Mr. Reader call for the fullest investigation along this line. It is only right and fitting that they be cleared up and the farmer given the assurance that his rights are to be protected."

"Other fruit producing centres will follow the matter with deep interest. The press of the Okanagan Valley is to be commended for the fearless manner in which they upheld the sacred rights of the primary producers. It is not always an easy task."

SAWMILL WORKER IS MINUS PART OF HAND

REVELSTOKE, B.C., Aug. 23.—Len Threatful, one of the owners of a single mill controlled by the Threatful family on the Mount Begbie road, about seven miles from Revelstoke, lost his thumb and two fingers on his right hand when a belt he was repairing slipped and pushed his hand into the revolving saw. A brother of the injured man lost a couple of fingers in a somewhat similar accident last year. The latest victim is recovering in the Queen Victoria Hospital.

Another accident victim Charlie Yingling, who was carried down to Donald and then to Revelstoke by stretcher, truck and train, is out of hospital, hobbling along on crutches. Yingling was injured while fighting up Wood River in the farthest reaches of the Big Bend country.

Funeral services for Rosario Desimone, who died Friday in the Queen Victoria Hospital after a long illness, were held Monday from St. Francis Church, Rev. Father Jamieson, officiating. The deceased came to Revelstoke in 1894 and had been employed with the Canadian Pacific Railway until his retirement some years ago. His wife, four sons and two daughters, all in Revelstoke, survive.

Revelstoke lost another old timer Saturday morning, when Mrs. Norah Fleming, widow of the late William Fleming, passed away after a protracted illness. Seventy years of age, the deceased had spent most of her life in Revelstoke, her husband having operated one of the first butcher shops in the town, after construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Later he was government road foreman, a position which he again filled between 1928 and 1933. He died at Bella Coola three years ago while supervising mattress work there for the Provincial government.

Old-timers in the Okanagan who used to stay at the old Windsor Hotel will regret to learn that Mrs. Magpie Hanbury, who with her husband, built and operated the hotel, passed away at Victoria last week. Mr. and Mrs. Hanbury retired from the hotel business in 1910 but since that time have frequented Victoria in Revelstoke with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kelly. Funeral services were held in Victoria, the remains being cremated.

Mrs. Wood and her daughter, June, spent some time in Vernon during the period of Mr. Wood's illness. Miss Kitty Wood visited for a few days with her aunt at "Woodlands."

ACCIDENT LEADS TO CHARGES IN COURT

PENTICTON, B.C., Aug. 23.—Ivan Marosic, of Penticton, appeared in police court on Monday morning to answer charges in connection with the accident to the Max Rossi automobile which crashed into the railing on the Okanagan River bridge on Skaha Lake road on August 14. Further charges, in connection with the accident, are reported pending.

Marosic pleaded guilty to two charges laid against him, and in court indicated that he considered himself fortunate to escape with his life. As it was, one of the heavy bridge timbers which pierced the machine from side to side gashed the calf of the man's leg.

First of the charges was that of failure to make a written report of the accident. For this offence, accused was fined $10 and costs. The second offence was one of driving while intoxicated, the man being charged to be under the influence of alcohol at the time of the accident, the magistrate stating that he was fortunate he did not have a charge of manslaughter to face.

TO guard against loss of horses through the deadly disease known as encephalomyelitis, farmers should take immediate steps to have their animals vaccinated, in the opinion of Dr. G. H. Acres, of Penticton, Dominion government veterinarian, a visitor to this city on Thursday afternoon of last week.

Several cases of this disease, which has killed hundreds of horses throughout the prairies in the past two years, causing tremendous loss to owners, have been diagnosed in the Penticton area. Others are being treated in the Kootenays.

A vaccine for this disease which is 90 percent effective has been perfected, Dr. Acres said. He advised that farmers procure this treatment for their animals from a competent veterinarian. Now is the time of year when many ranchers need their horses for work and no opportunity should be lost of taking advantage of the serum.

Provincial government authorities, under Dr. H. McKay, of Kamloops, are conducting a vaccination campaign at Penticton and throughout the province.

AWARD CONTRACT ON FERRY FOR KELOWNA

VICTORIA, B.C., Aug. 23.—The Provincial government announced at the week end award of contracts for the construction of a new steel ferryboat for the Kelowna-Westbank service with improved docks, at a total cost of $120,000.

MacPherson announced the award of contract for construction of a steel hull, 140 feet long, with a thirty-car capacity, to the Western Bridge Company, Ltd., of Vancouver, for its bid of $83,533; and of the contract for the vessel's motors to the Vivian Motors, Ltd., of Vancouver, at a figure of $25,816.

At the same time the Minister of Public Works announced that the funds would be spent on improvement of dock approaches at both ends of the ferry route, at Kelowna and Westbank, bringing the cost of the whole project up to $120,000. The new steel hull and for a creosoted wooden hull were laid aside in favor of the third set of bids asked.

Three firms tendered on the steel vessel, in bids opened, as follows: Roy Stewart, Ltd., $83,372; Western Bridge Company, Ltd., $83,533; and North Vancouver Ship Repairs, Ltd., $110,784.

A Book Review

"THE GREEN LEAF" A Memorial To Grey Owl

"You are tired with years of civilization. I come and offer you, what? A single green leaf."

These were the searching words of Grey Owl, whose sudden death of pneumonia at Prince Albert, as recently as last April, brought to an end the career of a well-known well-loved writer and naturalist.

The words also indicate the source of the title for a little book edited and arranged by Lovat Dickson and published by Macmillan in Canada, which records the passing of this really brave spirit. It is known as "The Green Leaf, A Memorial to Grey Owl."

We have all noted the fact that some forest monarch, unassailable throughout the lifetime of his strength, his corpse attacked only by those who never had the courage to approach when he could defend himself. As in the animal world, so it is in the world of men. They have called him a cockney and an impostor, criticized this man whose love was the wilderness and who was almost a single-handed crusader for the animals. But, as Robert Lynd has written in the News-Chronicle, "if he was an impostor and his Indian mother a figment of his imagination, he was surely one of the most innocent impostors in the history of literature."

Indeed, as one reads this challenging little compilation—which includes the story of Grey Owl's end, an outline of his sensitive campaign for the creatures of the wild—which are Indians as well as animals, excerpts from his writing and his famous Farewell to the Children of the British Isles, and an assembling of press commentary about him, together with many highly interesting pictures—one comes to realize that in the opinion of a vast number competent to judge, Canada has lost a really outstanding man.

PENTICTON BUSINESS MAN DIES SUDDENLY

L. L. Wilkins Succumbs Following Heart Attack—Was Well Known Figure

PENTICTON, B. C., Aug. 23.—Death came suddenly to Lawrence Lowell Wilkins, of Penticton, head of the Wilkins Machine Shop and Foundry here. Following a heart attack on Friday, the Penticton business man passed away at 8 o'clock on Saturday morning, August 20.

Decensed was born at Newmarket, Ontario, 64 years ago. Following his boyhood in Ontario, he came west in 1900 and, after spending a year in Vancouver, moved to Medicine Hat, where he operated a machine shop for many years. In 1920 he came to Penticton and established one of the earliest machine shops in this area.

His first shop was in a warehouse behind the King block, but later he moved to the site of the present plant, opening a small shop there and enlarging it as the district grew. Here he was active until the time of his death, having built up the largest machine shop in the Interior.

There survive besides his wife, one son, Clifford, and two daughters, Lois and Audrey, all of Penticton. He has three brothers, Charles, Percy and Harry, and four sisters, Mrs. Lydia Wilkins, Mrs. Blanche Sloger, Mrs. Arnold Sloger, and Mrs. A. A. Parabaker, all living in Ontario. Funeral services were held on Tuesday.

Spaniards who cross Andorra, the "pocket republic of the Pyrenees," on their way to take refuge in France, are weighed and pay a toll of six cents a pound, the average toll being about $12.50 a man.
